FRANCIS: NO ONE IS FREE FROM BLAME

ROBERT Francis QC, who led the inquiry into poor standards of care at Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, has addressed MPs over the scandal.

He told the House of Commons on Tuesday that his investigation did not exonerate individuals of blame for the "appalling" suffering of patients at Stafford.

by Catherine Dalton

It came after families raised concerns that bosses at the trust, which runs Stafford and Cannock Hospital, were not held responsible. They called for top-level resignations, including NHS boss Sir David Nicholson and Royal College of Nursing chief executive Peter Carter.

Mr Francis said the terms of his inquiry were to examine actions – or inactions – of organisations against a "background of the most appalling" care at Stafford.

"You cannot try people without it being fair," he told MPs on the House of Commons health select committee.

Lawyer

"I personally think that would have had a number of unfortunate results...the first would have been the duration and extent of the inquiry.

Every single person involved would have instructed a lawyer, every single person would have to have been a core participant.

"I know some people have criticised the length of my inquiry but I would have been running this inquiry for years – the lessons would not have been learned but perhaps the most important point is that I don't think we would have found out as much as we did."

He added: "I do not believe that this report exonerates people at all, I do urge those who have not done so to read the accounts given of the history in the various chapters about the organisations, where I set out in detail what individuals have done and what they have not done, what letters they got and their reaction to these letters.

"I personally believe that is the useful contribution a public inquiry can make in this situation."

Mr Francis said his job had been to find out from as many people as possible what had happened and to build up a picture of events at Stafford Hospital and then to draw lessons for the future.

"Clearly one of these lessons is that there is insufficient accountability in this system and it is for that reason that I make a number of recommendations in that regard," he said.

The public inquiry report called for a "zero tolerance" approach to poor standards of care in the health system. It said the NHS had failed to protect patients at the hospital, regulatory agencies failed to communicate and there was "too great a degree of tolerance of poor standards."

The trust failed to tackle an insidious negative culture" including a tolerance of poor care standards and had a culture of "self promotion" rather than critical analysis and openness, his report found.

Knight-time for raunchy read

Author and cake maker Anouska Knight with her husband Jim and sons Radley Bo, aged eight, and Loch, six

A BAKER from Rugeley is on the verge of winning a national writing competition after cooking up a raunchy novel.

Mother-of-two Anouska Knight has reached the final stage of a television contest after entering Lorraine Kelly's 'Racy Reads' and making it through to the last three.

Mrs Knight, aged 33 from St Anthony's Close, entered the contest by chance. The businesswoman began writing several months ago after her cake shop, Nooskie Noo's at Bromley Hayes Garden Centre, closed.

She will find out along with millions of viewers if her novel Cake has been chosen as the winner later this week on ITV's Lorraine.

Mrs Knight said: "When the shop shut, I wanted to take a breather and started writing for fun.

Saucy

"I saw the Racy Reads competition by chance because I don't normally watch daytime TV.

"Viewers were asked to send in 1,000 words and I decided to give it a go. I didn't think I would get this far, it doesn't feel real."

Mrs Knight's saucy novel is loosely based around Cannock Chase and features a woman who owns a cake shop. It will be judged by author Jackie Collins and William Roache, who plays Ken Barlow in Coronation Street.

The Racy Reads winner will have their book published by Mills and Boon and will fly to Los Angeles to meet Jackie Collins.

Mrs Knight added: "It would be smashing to win and see my name on the book, but even if I don't it has been a massive confidence boost. My family are all proud of me."

Tour firm boss calls it quits in 40th year

A LEADING coach company has announced it is to close after 40 years of trading.

Parrys International, of Cheslyn Hay, carries around 25,000 passengers a year to destinations across the country and parts of Europe.

Owner Dave Parry said the decision to close at the end of the year was made due to increasing regulation and spiralling costs in the coach tour industry.

The Landywood Green firm is the official sponsor of Wolverhampton Speedway and Mr Parry said this would continue until the end of the season, marking its 13th successive year.

Turnover

Mr Parry, who is 65 next month, said: "It was very upsetting to have to announce it but we have to plan in advance."

Mr Parry works seven days a week in his business, which has grown to have an annual £5million turnover.

Parrys, which has 35 full-time staff, is not taking any bookings after December.

He stressed the business was still very sound financially and he was prepared to listen to offers to buy it.

Rents go up for tenants

RENTS for council tenants in Cannock are set to rise by £2.60 a week from April.

A full council meeting was yesterday (Wednesday) expected to approve the changes.

They will see charges across Cannock Chase go up by an average of 3.1 per cent across the board from April 1 – around £135 extra a year.

Housing boss Councillor Frank Allen said the the council had no choice but to put up rents again this year.

He said: "The Government is making us increase rents. People will have to pay on average an extra £2.60 a week."

Amazon staff in protest over pay

AMAZON workers in Rugeley have demanded a 'proper living wage' in a protest against their bosses.

Staff staged a demonstration across the country yesterday (Wednesday), including at the distribution centre at Towers Business Park, on Power Station Road, which has more than 1,000 permanent staff.

GMB union members are demanding the company pay £7.45 per hour to employees and is protesting against the firm denying staff union representation.

Profitable

The GMB also claims Amazon should pay more taxes. It has not paid corporation tax in the UK for the last three years, say union bosses, despite having sales of more than £7 billion.

National GMB organiser Paul Clarke said: "Profitable companies like Amazon dodging fair taxes while failing to pay staff a living wage and treat them properly deserve a corporate Asbo."

Fran Griffin, of Amazon, said: "We offer a competitive package which includes base wage and performance-related pay.

"Amazon pays all applicable taxes in every jurisdiction that it operates within."

Aid in store at pet shop

A CANNOCK pet store will be raising funds for the RSPCA during a weekend of activities.

Staff from Pets at Home will looking to beat the £18,000 it made from last year's nationwide initiative.

A number of fundraising activities are being held at the Orbital Retail Park store from tomorrow (Friday) until Sunday.

Customers can also buy charity pin badges or choose to take part in the 'round up to a £1' initiative, where their purchases are rounded up and difference donated to the appeal.

Proud pensioner collects her MBE

IT WAS "a day never to be forgotten" for 93-year-old Ivy Stone when she received her MBE from the Prince of Wales at Buckingham Palace.

The proud pensioner from Penkridge was honoured for a lifetime of charity work in which she has raised thousands of pounds, particularly for the Midlands Air Ambulance.

Prince Charles told her she was a "wonderful lady" as he pinned her award to the blue suit she bought especially for the occasion. And as soon as she got home, she took the medal to the bingo to show all her friends. The great-grandmother said: "It was a lovely day.

"Prince Charles has got marvellous blue eyes. I told him it was a pleasure for me to do what I do.

"The worst part was having to walk the length of the room when it was my turn, although I did get an escort. It was a real experience," she added.

Last year Ivy raised more than £3,000 for the air ambulance charity, presenting the last cheque just before Christmas.

She already has £420 towards this year's target.

"The people of Penkridge are so good, they collect money and organise charity events for me all the time.

"My children tell me I should slow down at my age but that would be more hard work than what I do."

Prison officer jailed for phone deal with inmate

A PRISON officer who struck a £500 deal with a convicted drug dealer to bring mobile phones into Featherstone jail has been locked up.

Debt-ridden John Vance, of Cheslyn Hay was tempted by an offer from convicted drug dealer Akbar Bukhari, who was starting an 18-year sentence and wanted to keep in touch with his fiancee.

The deal was discovered during a covert surveillance operation by prison staff, Stafford crown court heard.

Security cameras at the jail recorded Vance going into an out-of-bounds storeroom with several inmates.

Phone conversations involving Bukhari were listened in on and another covert recording revealed Vance, of Hatherton Street, had selected the place where the contraband was to be left and then picked up.

He was arrested on May 4, 2011 – the day before a package was found in an electricity junction box in New Road, Featherstone, ready to be collected.

Accepted

Mr Glyn Samuels, prosecuting, said in the bag were five mobile phones, an assortment of drugs and £450 in cash. He said it was accepted that Vance had only agreed to bring mobile phones to Featherstone. None of the items reached the prison.

Fingerprints on the bag were matched to Lewis O'Brien, whose father and brother were inmates. O'Brien, 21, of Lea Hall Road, Stetchford, Birmingham got 12 months after admitting conspiracy to bring List A (drugs) and List B contraband (phones) in to prison.

Vance, aged 53, was jailed for 13 months after admitting conspiracy to bring in List B.

Bukhari, 32, currently in Frankland Prison, was jailed for another four years.

Industrial disease is ruling on old miner

A FORMER miner from Cannock who worked with the last of the pit ponies died from an industrial disease, an inquest heard.

The hearing at Cannock Coroners Court was told Philip Haywood worked underground at Cannock Wood Colliery for 15 years and later, as a surface worker, at Littleton Colliery in Huntington.

The 82-year-old started at Cannock Wood in the 1950s where he worked with pit ponies taking supplies to the coal face.

The inquest heard the last pit pony to work in the mine was one of Mr Haywood's. He had taken early retirement from Littleton in 1987. The colliery was the last of the Cannock Chase coalfields to cease operations when it closed in 1993.

The pensioner died from chronic obstructive lung disease at his home in Rawnsley Road, Hazel Slade, on November 8 last year.

South Staffordshire coroner Andrew Haigh recorded that he died from a work-related condition.

Food plea a roaring success

Burntwood Lions members Keith Barnsley and Dave Marston with the food boxes

A CHARITY campaign that provides needy people in Burntwood with food has enjoyed a bumper year – despite facing the axe just a few months ago.

The Burntwood Lions project has been running for 20 years but was in danger of being scrapped due to a lack of volunteers.

However, following an appeal just before Christmas, 20 volunteers came forward and the Lions collected the most donations in four years. Fundraising chairman John Wallage said: "Thanks to the generosity of everyone that donated this year, more than 5,500 items were collected."

He said that figure had enabled the Lions to assemble about 170 food parcels for the elderly and needy.

Fellow member Cindy Barnsley added: "We really thought it was the end of the line for our collections but after the public appeal we were really amazed by how many people stepped forward and helped us."

District's blueprint set to be unveiled

A PLAN outlining development within Cannock Chase over coming years will be revealed to the public today (Thursday).

Cannock Chase District Council's plan is designed to shape the physical, economic, social and environmental aspects of the district by 2028.

Housing, employment and retail development will all be included.

Public consultation was carried out between 2006 and 2012 to create the action plan for the area. Following this, and changes to national policy, some alterations have been made to the local plan.

Residents can have a further say on the plan once it is published. Consultation closes at 5pm on March 28.

Councillor Gordon Alcott, the authority's leader of economic development, said: "Local residents are invited to let us have their views on the proposed plan to ensure the council is achieving the best results with future development opportunities."

Documents can be seen at www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk/planningpolicy and will also be available to view at the council offices.

Police issue alert over fraudsters

MOTORISTS are being warned to beware of fraudsters who have struck at a number of locations across the county.

The offenders usually park in lay-bys off main commuter roads and pretend that their car has broken down. They flag passing vehicles down and then ask for money in exchange for jewellery or gold that turns out to be fake.

The conmen have struck in various places throughout the county, including in Brereton and Wolseley Bridge. Crimes have also taken place in Lichfield, Blythe Bridge, Leek and Hixon.

The offenders are described as Asian or Eastern European and one of them had a distinctive scar on his nose. They have used a variety of cars including a Mercedes, a Fiat Punto and a Volkswagen estate.

Detective Superintendent Julie Prince, from Staffordshire Police, said: "The offenders sound plausible and have already persuaded several victims to part with money.

"We would urge people to be vigilant and if they are approached to contact police immediately with as much information as possible."

Call Staffordshire Police on 101.

Public meeting on plant smells

A PUBLIC meeting is to be held over alleged foul smells from a Cannock waste plant.

Residents near the Biffa plant in Heath Hayes have called the meeting with solicitors Hugh James. It takes place on Tuesday, February 26 from 7-9pm at the Ramada Hotel in Bridgtown

There is also a drop-in clinic from 2pm the following day. It comes after the firm was given four months to cut foul smells.

Teenager Tom looks to build new career

A TEENAGER from Cannock is building his career after being hired by a supplier of housing in the Midlands as part of its employment scheme.

Tom Lawson, aged 19, is one of 10 people recruited by Bromford in the second phase of the company's Opportunities 4 Employment initiative.

Tom is now working on a six-month placement in the Wolverhampton-based firm's accounts department, where he could go on to earn a full-time contract. Mr Lawson, of Forge Close, Churchbridge, said: "After I finished my course in business and finance at Walsall College I spent six month applying for traineeships and only got one interview. It's not fun.

"When I heard about this I was more surprised than anything, but also really pleased. It's going really well so far. I've settled in brilliantly and all my colleagues are great."

The company is now looking to expand its employment scheme and recruit more customers in the future. Sarah Terry, customer development manager at Bromford, said: "We believe in our customers' potential and feel we are ideally placed to provide opportunities to help them from unemployment into work and be the best they can be.

"There are thousands out of work who are desperate to get a job.

"They may lack confidence and skills but when given the chance they don't just survive the work experience but actually thrive in it."

Tory group leader outlines budget to freeze council tax

CONSERVATIVES in Cannock are calling for a freeze on council tax after it was revealed that residents already pay more than twice as much as their neighbouring district.

To maintain as many services as possible Cannock Chase District Council announced a two per cent council tax rise.

by Tom Mason

But figures reveal that many residents are already paying significantly more than those over the border in South Staffordshire.

Band A householders in Huntington will continue to pay only £63.56 or £1.22 per week after council tax in South Staffordshire district was frozen. Owners of a similar home in Cannock can expect to pay £131.34 or £2.52 per week.

Similar

Councillor Paul Snape, Conservative Group Leader on Cannock Chase District Council said: "Why should a Cannock Chase resident living in a similar house pay over £100 a year more than their neighbour in Huntington? Yet our council leader still wants more.

"He has stated that to maintain services, he needs to increase council tax by a minimum of six per cent over the next three years. I disagree and my budget shows he is wrong."

Councillor Snape's alternative budget proposal outlines other ways in which money could be saved and services preserved.

These include halting the provision for town centre toilets, saving more than £60,000 and scrapping the post of corporate improvement portfolio holder on the cabinet, a amounting to a further £8,000 saving.

In response, council leader Councillor George Adamson said: "The proposed increase still only works out at six pence per household per week with the average household paying £3.32 per week."

MP's concerns over wages paid to staff

NEARLY 50 Cannock council workers earn less than the recommended living wage, new figures reveal.

Under Freedom of Information, Chase MP Aidan Burley said 47 people employed by the district council were being paid the minimum of £6.19 an hour. The Voluntary Living Wage scheme set up in 2005, set salaries at at least £7.45 an hour for those over 21 to reflect the cost of living.

The council is not signed up to the scheme and chief executive Stephen Brown said: "There is no intention at the present time to implement any local arrangements outside of that nationally negotiated pay structure".

Conservative MP Mr Burley said: "I am determined to ensure it always pays to work and paying the living wage is one mechanism available to employers in order to help them do this."

'Good' nursery's turnaround in fortunes

Delight as children and staff from Redhill Robins Day Care Unit in Cannock celebrate their good Ofsted rating

STAFF at a nursery in Cannock are celebrating a 'good' Ofsted report – just a few months after it had been deemed inadequate.

The Redhill Robins Day Care Unit in Wrights Avenue has organised a party for children and their parents to celebrate the achievement at the end of this month.

The unit's chairman Leanne Griffiths said it had been a hard few weeks following the inadequate report in October 2012, but with the support of the staff, the council and parents, they had manage to improve the rating dramatically.

Ideas

She said: "We have worked really hard to get where we have got today.

"We have been working with the local authority and they have been great at giving us ideas since our last report on how to improve. For example, we now have different sections, such as one for maths, one for writing, and we also now have a reading tent for story time," she added.

Mrs Griffiths said staff had also been given more training and had been focusing on getting a good report.

"We are so happy that we have managed to achieve it."

NEWS in brief

Money saved in shared services

MORE than £1.2 million has been saved in the past year from the teaming up of two authorities to share certain services.

One of the biggest successes in the partnership between Cannock Chase and Stafford Borough councils has come in the benefit claims department. Cannock Chase is now one of the best-performing authorities in the country.

Council leader George Adamson said the changes were likely to stay.

A scrutiny meeting today (Thursday) will hear there have been no significant changes in performance since the shared services came in and that levels were being maintained despite cuts in staffing.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

THE best part of the unearthing of Richard III's bones in a Leicester car park is that the team began digging in a car space reserved with the letter R. Dig under R and you find Richard. The next hunt for royal bones may be in Winchester where the remains of Alfred the Great are supposed to lie. There must be a great temptation to start searching for the letters AG

THANKS for the bulging postbag on the subject of films which have made audiences spontaneously cheer. Les Miserables and The Sting are clear front-runners.

ONE reader makes a good point about the first time she saw Jaws (1975) when the giant shark suddenly erupted from the water and the whole audience applauded wildly. She says the unconvincing rubber shark which terrified us so satisfyingly in 1975 is almost laughable today, and are we becoming hardened to horror? She's right. Can you name a single classic horror movie that still frightens us?

❐❐❐❐❐❐❐

AS SHE took Australian citizenship, that great British actress Miriam Margolyes declared: "I don't like class distinction and there is far too much of that in England." Maybe there is. But class distinction, in all its infuriating silliness, is the very bedrock of the English sense of humour. Margolyes has made a very good living exploiting it, all the way from Ladies in Lavender to Jam & Jerusalem, not forgetting her glorious Queen Victoria in the Blackadder Christmas Special. Pity she has to bite the hand that fed her so well.

TALKING of class, as the world celebrates the 200th anniversary of Pride and Prejudice, can any modern work hope to challenge it as the ultimate dissection of the English class system? Yes, indeed. Look no further than Walmington-on Sea. The episode in this week's BBC2 repeat, The Honourable Man, with Mainwaring seething at the news that his sergeant has become The Honourable Arthur Wilson was as keenly observed as anything Jane Austen wrote and arguably the funniest of all the Dad's Army stories.

ONE of the scariest Shakespearian roles for any actress is Hermione, the queen in The Winter's Tale who pretends to be a statue. The actress playing Hermione must keep absolutely stock-still for several minutes. In the long history of the theatre there must have been Hermiones who got cramp, had a fit of the giggles, sneezed, had hiccups or broke wind. The statue scene is as tense for the audience as it is for the cast. In the latest RSC production at Stratford, Hermione is played by Tara Fitzgerald, probably best remembered as the flugelhorn-playing love interest in the movie Brassed Off (1996). On press night at Stratford she was rock-solid perfect, proving you can give a truly moving performance while not moving at all.

IF YOU'RE left wondering whether any issue could cause the Tory party more internal strife and pave the way for electoral defeat than same-sex marriages, it would surely be an attempt to lift the ban on foxhunting. They're working on it.

CHRIS Huhne's ex-wife Vicky Pryce used the old law on "marital coercion" in her defence to a charge of perverting the course of justice. This rare defence dates from the 1925 Criminal Justice Act and can be used only by married women. When gay marriages become legal, all sorts of changes will have to be made to English law. The scrapping of "marital coercion" must surely be one of the first.

HOSPITAL INQUIRY

Lessons have been learned says trust boss

THE boss of Mid Staffordshire NHS Trust said lessons had already been learned from the tragedy at Stafford Hospital.

Chief executive Lyn Hill Tout said hospital staff would feel "shame and guilt" for the rest of their careers.

Mrs Hill-Tout openly admitted the hospital's board at the time "lost the plot."

"Their priorities were wrong," she said. "The priority was too geared around gaining Foundation Trust status. There were too few nurses and a lack of care and compassion. There is no doubt the people of Stafford feel let down by all of this."

But she pointed out many improvements had been made, adding: "We have done things differently since. We have more qualified nurses now. We've put back ward sisters and we've had a big reduction in complaints. We have to make sure what happened does not happen again. I feel pretty determined to put things right."

Mrs Hill-Tout thanked all the families and witnesses that gave evidence at the inquiry, saying they had to "relive awful experiences".

She added: "We are really sorry for that. I hope they feel a thorough job has been done by Robert Francis."

Of the report, she said: "I'm pleased it is finally out. It's awful that it happened within the NHS and awful that it happened here. The recommendations will improve the NHS and this hospital. They have to.

"Staff feel relieved that the report has finally come through but this will create shame and guilt for the rest of their careers."

Failed

"We apologise unreservedly that the board at Mid Staffordshire Foundation Trust and individuals working for the trust failed in their primary responsibility to keep all patients safe and to care for patients with the compassion and dignity they deserved. The report is rightly damning of Mid Staffs at that time.

"We have learned from that experience and we try every day to continue to improve the care we provide to our patients.

"Mr Francis makes 290 recommendations, we will ensure that those lessons we have learned and the actions we have already taken continue."

"There are many valuable lessons to be learned. However, through the hard work of our staff, Stafford Hospital is now a very different place.

"There is now independent evidence that the quality of care given to patients at Stafford Hospital has improved considerably.

"However, as Robert Francis has outlined, many important changes are needed in the NHS."

Chief executive Lyn Hill-Tout

Francis: Bravery of the Report by Catherine Dalton

The dignity and bravery of the families affected by the Mid Staffordshire NHS Trust scandal will forever live with the man who conducted the public inquiry.

Robert Francis QC said the stories he had heard about Stafford had had a lasting impression on him.

He spoke to after his long-awaited 1,700-word report into what went wrong at Stafford Hospital was finally published. He also met with families from across the region who were affected.

"It has left a lasting impression on me, as has the dignity and bravery of all those who came to give evidence and the appalling stories they told me," said Mr Francis, speaking at Stafford Borough Council House last week.

"The things they experienced, nobody should have to experience. If I learned one major lesson, it is really important that people who run health services meet people like this and make sure they learn lessons from their stories."

Leadership

In his inquiry report, delivered in front of the country's media last Wednesday (February 6) Mr Francis concluded there had been "a lack of care, compassion, humanity and leadership" at Stafford. He labelled the situation "a disaster" and the "worst crisis" in an NHS district hospital.

Patients were left unwashed, unfed and without water. Up to 1,200 people are believed to have died due to poor standards of care between 2005 and 2008.

But Mr Francis warned that the report must not just be welcomed and then put to one side. "There has been an unfortunate history in this country of reports after hospital disasters being welcomed and nothing much then happening about them," he said.

"As you know, I gave a set of recommendations designed to change the culture of the NHS, to put patients at the centre, a culture which puts patients and their safety first.

"It is so important these recommendations are implemented.

"That is why I recommended every organisation in the NHS should publish to what extent they want to take on the recommendations and then consider reviewing it regularly. I hope the progress can be kept alive.

"But we are at the beginning of a journey with this and there are lots of discussions to be had. This is not a time for people to sit back and wait to be told what to do by the Department of Health."

Robert Francis QC gives evidence

Robert Francis QC gives evidence to the Health Select Committee in Westminster

Among Mr Francis's recommendations is that the NHS constitution should be changed to put patients at its forefront, that causing death or harm to a patient "should be an offence" and a duty of candour should be imposed on NHS staff.

"We certainly heard concerning evidence about some basic things which were not happening in Stafford, although I am not able to comment on other hospitals," he said.

"If it is happening in one place that is one place too many. One of the real concerns is that this was a system failure."

Since the report, calls have been growing for the resignation of NHS chief Sir David Nicholson.

Campaigners including Cure the NHS founder Julie Bailey, whose mother Bella died at Stafford Hospital in 2007, have called for him to step down. Mr Francis said his inquiry was not designed to point fingers at individuals. He said: "I made it very clear that this was not an inquiry in which anyone was meant to be put in trial.

"My job was to find out what the reasons were why the awful problems at Stafford were not found earlier and found there was a failing at every level of this system.

Scapegoat

"This isn't something that's going to be fixed by identifying a scapegoat and skinning him or her or asking them to resign."

Miss Bailey said relatives of the victims wanted to see people held responsible for the scandal and called for the resignations of Sir David.

She also said she wanted Peter Carter, head of the Royal College of Nursing to go, and pledged campaigners would continue their quest until there was a safer NHS.

She said: "Sir David Nicholson needs to resign. Peter Carter needs to resigny – he has failed the front line. We want resignations and we are going nowhere. We want accountability and we will go nowhere until we get that accountability.

"When mum went in, we both believed the NHS was something to be proud of, we both believed that the hospital would be a safe place.

"We quickly learned after four days that mum was in fact in a very dangerous place. She needed protecting in what should have been a place of safety.

"We believe the NHS has just lost sight of what it is there for – the patient.

"Everybody looks up in the NHS, nobody looks out to what the patient wants and what the patients need.

"The NHS does some wonderful things but what is the point, when it can't do those basic things? They do wonderful things and put patients back into bed. They die of bedsores, die of thirst, die without food. We have got it the wrong way round. Everything has

Patient forced from toilet, claims tribunal

A HEALTHCARE assistant at the scandal-hit Stafford Hospital branded an elderly patient an 'animal' as she forced him from the toilet with his trousers down, a tribunal heard.

Bonka Kostova hurled abuse at the 73-year-old patient as she dragged him around by the collar of his pyjamas, it is said.

Bulgarian-born Kostova, a trained midwife covering as a healthcare assistant, was caring for the pensioner, referred to as patient A, on a night shift at the Weston Road hospital on July 22, 2010, while a colleague went on a break.

The patient, who suffered from Parkinson's disease and Alzheimer's, was staying on the urology and colorectal ward to receive treatment for kidney stones.

He had been placed in a wheelchair next to the nurse's station after he was found wandering the ward confused and agitated at around 3.30am.

"At one point he went to get up and staff nurse Jane Wilkinson saw the registrant push him back down into his wheelchair," said Rebecca Wood, for the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC).

"Ms Wilkinson took patient A to the toilet and then went to answer a call bell. When she returned she witnessed the registrant pulling patient A out of the toilet, pulling him by the collar of his pyjama top. His trousers were around his ankles, his genitals exposed."

After staff nurse Wilkinson stepped in, Kostova is said to have starting shouting at the patient.

"The registrant was reported to shout 'I hate him' and 'I really hate him'," said Ms Wood. "She made reference to him being like an animal, and said she hated working with people like this."

The midwife is also said to have breached the patient's privacy by leaving the toilet door open during the incident.

During an internal disciplinary investigation, Kostova claimed she had been trying to restrain Patient A after he started wandering over to the ladies' side of the ward.

Trousers

She told bosses at the Mid-Staffordshire NHS Trust he had walked out of the toilet with his trousers down by himself, but said she could not rule out having shouted at him.

Kostova, who was employed by the hospital between April 2009 and September 2010, shunned this week's misconduct hearing in central London. An earlier hearing into Kostova's alleged misconduct had to be abandoned after it emerged the NMC had been sending information to an old address.

When contacted said in an email she did not want to engage with the hearing.

"I don't want to practise as a midwife, I am quite happy to work as a carer only,"she said.

Kostova has not formally admitted or denied any of the charges she faces. Her case is the first to be brought before an NMC misconduct panel since the publication of a damning report into Stafford Hospital by Robert Francis QC.

The NMC says 41 current or previous nurses and midwives at the hospital are under investigation, with 10 facing a public hearing into their standards of care. The hearing continues.

families will stay with me

Stafford Hospital, at the centre of patient deaths that led to the Francis Inquiry

Julie Bailey, from Cure The NHS, and other families outside Stafford Borough Council offices told us there was systemic failings from the ward right to the very top. We are looking for resignations. We have lost hundreds of lives. People need to be held accountable within the NHS.

"We won't be going anywhere until there is a safer NHS, but things have got to change at the top."

Mr Francis QC met with the affected Stafford families just 24 hours after his report was published. After the 90-minute meeting, campaigners said they were pleased to have had the chance to speak to Mr Francis.

Deb Hazeldine, whose mother Ellen Linstead died from hospital bugs at Stafford, said the group had put across their concerns about accountability. She said Mr Francis had listened and then put his own side across.

Mrs Linstead, aged 67, of Stone, had been in Stafford after being treated for bone cancer but died in December 2006 after contracting superbugs Clostridium difficile and MRSA.

Her daughter, who met with the Prime Minister last Monday to discuss the findings of the report, echoed the call for people to be held responsible. "We need accountability to come back to the NHS," she said. "Poor care is insulting to all of the caring and compassionate staff as well as off of the patients.

"We need the recommendations to be implemented. We need a complaint system that's fit for purpose. It currently isn't so patients don't have a voice if something goes wrong."

Heather Wilhelms, aged 58, saw her mother, father and husband die within 18 months of each other at Stafford. She has called for those responsible to be hauled before the courts.

A member of action group Cure the NHS, Mrs Wilhelms, a grandmother-of-five, of Harrowby Street, Stafford, said action must now be taken at the top and work its way down.

She said: "Personally, I don't want the hospital to close – tafford needs it and there are good people up there. There are good nurses and doctors and the cleaning has improved tremendously." However, Mrs Wilhelms said the news of a baby having a dummy strapped to its face by a member of staff at the hospital, as reported by The Chronicle late last month, had seriously upset her and that something must be done to hold such people accountable for their actions.

Mrs Wilhelm's mother Pauline Nicklin was admitted to Stafford Hospital with a suspected chronic water infection in May 2004 but was sent home and told she had a weak bladder.

Concerned

She was rushed back to Stafford Hospital two years later with severe swelling and it emerged she had been suffering from ovarian cancer. She passed away in April 2006 at the age of 71.

Nine months later, Mrs Wilhelm's father Percy went to the hospital's A&E with severe pain in his feet. He was sent home but when a very concerned Mrs Wilhelms took him back, it was found he had blood poisoning and gangrene in his feet. He died four days later aged 76.

Her husband Tom was admitted too with obstructive breathing apnoea and was discharged. Nine months later he was rushed back in fighting for breath and later died.

Meanwhile, the father of a 20-year-old who died in Stafford Hospital has also called for those responsible to be held to account.

John Moore-Robinson, from Leicestershire, died in 2006 after being discharged with an undiagnosed ruptured spleen. He was taken to the accident and emergency department at Stafford Hospital after a mountain bike accident in Cannock Chase.

An X-ray revealed broken ribs but a scan to check his spleen was not conducted. He bled to death less than 24 hours after being sent home from hospital.

John's father Frank Robinson called for a complete overhaul of NHS bosses and regulatory bodies. He said: "These bodies have to be fit for purpose, which they currently are not. There has to be a change in the way NHS legal employees are held to account.

"This report is a golden opportunity to put right a lot of wrongs."

Petition set up to ask for referendum on hospitals

AN ONLINE petition is calling for a local referendum to give residents a voice over the potential downgrading of Cannock and Stafford hospitals.

The petition – set up by Rolfe Pearce who also started a campaign to save Stafford's A&E department – is calling on local politicians to arrange the vote.

People have already begun to sign the petition, which comes after the dire financial position of Mid Staffordshire NHS Trust was revealed by health regulator Monitor last month.

Following the report, there were fears that services could be drastically scaled back at both sites. Mr Pearce said it would be "scandalous" to downsize the hospitals as the taxpayer had ploughed in millions of pounds. He said he wanted to see them become centres of excellence for dementia and the elderly.

Unused

The professional foster carer said: "The Monitor report fails to advise that with more investment to utilise unused facilities, and centring services like dementia services for which the hospital is already rated a centre of excellence, the hospitals could be brought quickly back to viability.

"If centred in Mid Staffs, the trust would quickly become financially viable and all the wards in Cannock would be utilised."

Mr Pearce added: "David Cameron said in the House of Commons that no changes under the Health and Social care Act 2012 can go ahead unless the public agree through a public consultation. "

'Put the past behind us' is MP's rally cry

CHASE MP Aidan Burley says residents in Stafford and Cannock would be "shocked but not surprised" by the Francis Report findings.

The Tory MP said: "I would like to thank Robert Francis QC and his team for this well-researched and wide-ranging report into why regulators and senior NHS managers failed to pick up what was happening at Stafford Hospital.

"My constituents, some of whom have lost loved ones as a result of these failings, will be shocked but not surprised by the report. It is clear that its content and recommendations has implications that affect not just Stafford Hospital, but the whole of the NHS.

"From a local point of view we have to look forward. It is clear that the management of the hospital as it stands is not viable for the future. We have to move to the new structure as quickly as possible.

"Cannock Hospital remains as vital today as it was 20 years ago. My message to those responsible for developing the way forward is 'Let's put the past behind us – and don't make Cannock people suffer for the failures at Stafford Hospital'."

Wildlife art on show

ANIMALS will come to life during an art exhibition at Cannock Library this month. Artist David Spencer is showing off some of his best pieces at the Manor Avenue venue until the end of February.

Sixteen of his paintings are on display, showing birds and big cats. Mr Spencer, aged 64, of Norton Canes, said: "The paintings are all of wildlife. I've never exhibited at Cannock Library before so it's a first for me."

Mr Spencer has had work on display at the National Exhibition Of Wildlife Art in the Wirral. He has also previously shown his paintings at the Museum of Cannock Chase.

The display at Cannock Library includes oils, acrylics and scraperboard paintings.

Coroner rules tragic death of driver, 23, is 'accident'

A MOTORIST died in a "genuinely tragic accident" on Cannock Chase after losing control of his car, an inquest heard.

There was no suggestion that 23-year-old Luke Porter had been speeding in his silver Renault Clio on Brindley Road on July 13 last year.

The site is still marked by flowers and flags in tribute to the popular Hednesford Town supporter. The club marked his death with a minute's applause.

Mr Porter, of The Meadows, Wedges Mills, died from a severe head injury, Cannock Coroners Court heard.

Driver Luke Porter

Tired

A post mortem revealed he had a markedly thin skull which may have contributed to his injury. It also emerged that, unknown to him, he was suffering from a rare disease sarcoidosis, which could have affected his breathing and other organs .

Pathologist Dr Terence Hollingworth said the condition may have left him tired but not affect his driving.

The agency worker had left work at vehicle conversion firm Bri-Stor Systems in Hixon at around 4.30pm.

CCTV footage showed he was last to clock off and had been in no rush to leave.

Accident investigator Pc Roger Wetton said it appeared the Clio mounted the nearside kerb, span across the road and hit a tree head-on, before skidding back across the road and hitting a second tree side-on.

Recording an accidental death verdict, South Staffordshire coroner Andrew Haigh said: "He just got too close to the kerb. This was a genuinely tragic accident."

£5m shopping complex planned beside M6 Toll

Hare's a treat for pupils

TV presenter Dr Jonathan Hare visits Wolgarston High School in Penkridge to inspire students to get involved in science

SCHOOLCHILDREN in Penkridge were urged to put a bit of spark into their science and engineering lessons by a BBC presenter.

Dr Jonathan Hare, who has been on shows including Rough Science, dropped in at Wolgarston High School to share his knowledge with pupils aged 13 to 18. The day was organised by Simon Groom, a systems engineer for Stafford engineering giant Alstom. He said: "We are so glad that Dr Hare came along to talk to the pupils," he said. "They left the talk 'buzzing' with ideas and really excited about science."

A £5million out-of-town shopping park could be built on land beside the M6 Toll at Cannock.

The development, which is already attracting interest from stores, will create up to 60 jobs.

Trebor Developments and Horton's Estate have bought 3.5 acres of land from Staffordshire County Council for an undisclosed sum. The new owners will now plough around £5 million into the site, near the Orbital retail park. It will involve building a number of new shops and car parking facilities.

Bob Tattrie, Trebor's director handling the project, said: "The retail units will be of varying sizes but we expect to build five or six, which will create a total of 50 or 60 jobs.

Tenants

"We have already been talking to a number of potential tenants and there is considerable interest. We hope to be able to announce the first tenant in about six weeks' time.

"We will be putting in a planning application with the local authority in the spring and, if we are successful, work will start on the site in the summer.

"Our aim is to have the development completed and the first store open by the summer of 2014."

It is the latest joint venture from Trebor and Horton's following retail projects at Hagley Road in Birmingham and Princess Alice Drive in Sutton Coldfield, where construction work gets under way in the spring.

Husband found dead

A HEALTHY Rugeley man died at home just 24 hours after picking up a bug, an inquest heard. Terence Gray, aged 70, of Moorland Close, was found dead in bed by his wife on September 30. Coroner Andrew Haigh recorded a verdict of natural causes.

Shopping in another town is so tempting

I LIVE in Stafford but I visit my elderly uncle in Hednesford every week.

My uncle walks with a stick and on this occasion, while shopping in Market Street, had forgotten his disability badge.

We try to support our local shops as it is obvious they are struggling, judging by the lack of shoppers and vehicles. We parked outside the library and when we returned, eight minutes over our allocated 20, we had been fined £50. There were hardly any other vehicles in Market Street at the time and I feel this is very discouraging.

How is one supposed to choose and be served with library books, in such a short time, let alone shop in more than one store?

Going elsewhere to do our shopping is very tempting. No wonder Market Street is a ghost town.

DISAPPOINTED SHOPPER

Give Hoard a more local definition

THE county of Staffordshire is large and long in geographic extent. I just can't imagine why the Saxon Hoard found in this county is called the Staffordshire Hoard.

The one discovered in the South of England just before the outbreak of war is called the Sutton Hoo Hoard, as other finds now in the British Museum are similarly designated.

To give them a more local and defined placement, would it not be in order to call this recent hoard the Hammerwich Hoard? This would give a more local and realistic position for the find, and finish once and for all with the unrealistic present title of "Staffordshire" which fails to specify or pinpoint anything of scientific value?

We might as well call the find the English Hoard which would serve no one, and would certainly look rather foolish.

North and South Staffordshire differ in their culture and outlook, being quite different from each other in population numbers and commercial productivities, separated by farm land and green fields. The relationship between the two isn't too close, nor is their way of life, in fact the county could well be divided into two separate counties with benefits for both and each allowed to be their own cultural and traditional selves.

North the Potteries and South the industrial Black Country – as different as chalk and cheese and all in just one county.

New club is formed after coffee success

I WISH to thank those who made our coffee morning on January 26 for Lichfield and Burntwood Visually Impaired Club such a success – both in raising awareness of the resources available locally and for raising funds. It made £271.74 for the club and £51.10 for Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Thanks to Action for Blind People at Stafford, Morrisons at Burntwood, Guide Dogs for the Blind, John May MBE, St John Ambulance cadets Katie Dilworth and Simone Awty and to Terry Trigg, Karen Awty and Margaret Wood.

Its success has confirmed the need for a local offshoot of the Visually Impaired Club, called the Burntwood in-Sight Club. This will be on the first Saturday of each month starting on March 2 at 2.30pm in the coffee room at Chasetown Methodist Church. LETTERS to the Editor

POST
Cannock & Rugeley Chronicle, Chronicle Editorial, 51-53 Queen Street, Wolverhampton, WV1 1ES

Letters should be brief and MUST include name, address and telephone number of the writer. The Editor reserves the right to condense letters.

Heritage demolished

IS anybody bothered by the council's plans to demolish yet more of Cannock's heritage? The Ivy House, the place where most Cannock folk were born, is being ripped down, and nobody seems to care.

VERY SADDENED CANNOCK RESIDENT

A reason why roads not cleared

I WOULD like to offer an explanation to the writer of the letter 'Why are side roads not cleared?' - Chronicle January 31.

During the recent snowfall when 90 per cent of side roads and footpaths went uncleared, I was driving along Eastern Avenue, Lichfield, accompanied by my wife and eldest daughter whom I was taking to work.

We saw four council workmen and two short wheelbase trucks complete with high cage sides, being loaded onto the trucks were, wait for it, tree branches.

Yes, tree branches.

The workmen had been deployed pruning trees.

I must add, the main roads were kept immaculately clear of snow but as already stated by your correspondent, the footpaths and side roads were in an appalling and dangerous state. Why?

The incident would be laughable if it wasn't so ridiculous.

System is at fault over tax loophole

WITH Amazon announcing a record turnover during the festive season it proves that a majority of the public don't give a fig about how much corporation tax the company have or haven't paid here in the UK.

I'm sure if those of us who have to pay tax had our own accountants and we were told we could pay just one per cent instead of 20 and it was perfectly legal we wouldn't say no.

I found it quite amusing at MP Margaret Hodge who is head of some committee. She was wagging her finger at the corporate bosses as if they were naughty schoolchildren because their respective companies hadn't paid the correct amount of tax on their profits when it's the system that's at fault.

Benefits hide rate of unemployment

RE: the letter from Paul Rogers, Chronicle January 31. Figures have always been altered to suit the Government's needs. From the 80s and to the early 90s industries were shut down, moving people from unemployment to the sick hence invalidity benefit to hide the high rate of unemployment.

Both the main parties indulged on this one to a point of no return making people better off on welfare than working. On sickness they have had to introduce ESA, with people being treated like cheats because of the bloated figures. It's not the people that's wrong it's dumb policies to entice us to one party or another.

Student's wish list of dreams to achieve

A BURNTWOOD student who has a form of incurable cancer has set out with the help of friends, family and tutors to realise some of his lifelong dreams.

Stephen Sutton, from Ogley Vale, was recently given the news that his cancer had spread and become incurable after he had the last three years of his life in hospital battling bowel cancer.

But instead of feeling sorry for himself, the 18-year-old Chase Terrace Technology College pupil has decided to turn his situation into a positive experience. He is raising money for the teenage cancer trust and has written a bucket list of 46 exciting things to do.

Stephen Sutton from Burntwood, back, at Chase Technology College, with teachers Emma Scholes, left, and Karen Titley and friend James Andrews

Target

So far the plucky teenager has met his comedy hero Jimmy Carr who visited the Teenage Cancer Trust ward at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham after a staff member emailed him about Stephen's wish list. Stephen originally set himself a target of £10,000 but that was soon extended to £50,000.

He plans to release a charity single with his old band, Nothing Personal and to beat the record for the world's longest drum roll which currently stands at 27 hours and three seconds.

Stephen had aspirations of becoming a doctor and was a dedicated student before being diagnosed.

He posted on his Facebook page: "Originally all I ever wanted to do was study hard and make a difference to the world by becoming a doctor. However in light of my current circumstances I have decided to be more pragmatic with my time.

"This will involve utilising as many short-term opportunities as possible to enrich my own life experience and most importantly to try and improve the lives of others by fundraising and raising awareness of cancer in teenagers and young adults."

School staff, including the head, have agreed to do a charity sky dive with him. Julia Hayburn, director of student support at the Bridge Cross Road school, said: "Stephen has remained positive, pragmatic and highly philosophical throughout this time and has been amazing to all those around him."

"He deserves to have his story known so that he can inspire others and achieve the ambitions he has set for himself.

"He does not have the luxury of time granted to other young people, but he is also not willing to let what remaining time he does have pass him by."

Smoke-filled air at Springvale Foundry, Wolverhampton

Butler Bayliss' painting Pig Beds – Tapping A Furnance

Three gaunt figures close to a Darlaston blast furnace

An aquatint-technic etching of Bilston blast furnaces

A stoker feeding or poking the fierce fire of a Black Country furnace

An Evening in the Black Country – workers making their way home

Artist captured stark landscape of our past

TO some, scenes of dark, smoke-filled industrial landscapes which gave the Black Country its name wouldn't exactly pass as being an artist's dream.

by Tim Spiers

But Edwin Butler Bayliss – the son of a local ironmaster who went on to become an inspirational and celebrated painter – thought differently.

His work depicting areas like Bilston, Tipton and Wednesbury documented the Black Country at the height of its industrial growth and is today still of huge historical and cultural importance.

And now art lovers can see for themselves just why Butler Bayliss is so revered in an exhibition of his work which is being held at Wolverhampton Art Gallery, Lichfield Street.

Butler Bayliss was born in 1874, the eldest of eight children and grew up in Merridale Road, Wolverhampton, before later moving to The Woodhouse, Wood Road, Tettenhall.

Aged 14 he was sent to study at Rydal School in Colwyn Bay – a strong influence on his seaside artworks – before returning to Wolverhampton aged 18. It was at this time that he began to prolifically paint scenes of the Black Country, working in a range of mediums including oil and pastel.

He certainly doesn't sugarcoat the conditions in which people lived back then, showing the Black Country as a smoke-filled and dangerous place to live and work.

Paintings often show figures silhouetted against a dull, grey sky and ravaged landscapes with blast furnaces and chimneys in the background.

Butler Bayliss, known as the 'poet-painter of the Black Country', carved a niche for himself as the foremost painter of the Black Country landscape.

He took his work across the country from London to Scotland and to some his chief subject matter was surprising as his father Samuel Bayliss was a managing director of the large local iron foundry Bayliss, Jones and Bayliss.

Despite not having any formal artistic training, Butler Bayliss decided not to follow in his father's footsteps and took up painting.

The 1901 census listed him as 'artist sculptor, annuitant living at home' so he had clearly decided to concentrate full-time on painting when in his late 20s.

He later moved to The Beeches in nearby Regis Road, which became a social base for many other Black Country artists.

The exhibition, which also shows his pictures of the West coastline, run until April 27.

Special needs playground looks to boost its coffers

Play worker Lauren Butler with visitors at SNAP, which is now opening its doors to able-bodied children

AN adventure playground for special needs children has opened its doors to the able-bodied to boost its coffers.

SNAP (Special Needs Adventure Playground) in Pye Green Road, Cannock is one of only a handful in the country and offers all the usual adventure playground equipment with special adaptations where necessary.

The charity, which celebrates its 10th anniversary in May, has to raise £50,000 a year and, with no statutory funding, relies on hiring costs to meet that target. Manager Suzanne Newell said four weekend parties would generate around £200. Parties for able-bodied children are now on offer but she said this was not widely known.

Secure

"Most of the children that come here are autistic, their disabilites are not physical, so the equipment doesn't differ greatly from any other adventure playground.

"What we really offer is a safe and secure environment where people are not going to comment on their behaviour or be judgmental.We have swings and roundabouts that are adapted for wheelchairs and there are special trikes for the cycle trail but there is ball pool and soft play area."

SNAP was recently nominated as Cannock shopping centre's charity of the year and Mrs Newell has spent most of the last four weeks applying for funding grants. The charity is trying to raise extra funds to mark its milestone.

"We are grateful for the help we receive but it would help us greatly if we could boost our children's party income," she added.

Planes fly in to help the needy

CHASE TERRACE LADIES CLUB

MICHAEL Fawdrey gave a talk to the club on January 31 on MAF, Flying for Life.

Formed around 60 years ago, this is a Christian aviation organisation serving in more than 30 countries in some of the world's most isolated areas. They transport medical care, food and water supplies, relief teams and workers needed during natural disasters and political unrest.

They fly in to camps on the northern border of South Sudan. In response to the East Africa famine they fly in to Dadaab refugee camp, northern Kenya, providing access for those responding to people in need.

Monthly flights go in to Tanzania for mother and baby clinics that take place in remote villages.

In the Democratic Republic of Congo, their planes carry medical staff and supplies for mobile clinics working to contain a measles epidemic.

In Papua New Guinea, where mountainous terrain and jungle make overland travel difficult, MAF planes transport students and teachers to school and carry cash crops to market in support of remote village economies.

MAF flew non-stop in the months following the Haiti earthquake.

Each year, care reaches in excess of a million people.

Members enjoyed a bring and buy stall which raised £106 for club funds and a raffle which raised £62.

Mrs. Preece thanked Eva Eustace, June Evans and Angela Reid for running the stall and Audrey Stamford for organising the Raffle.

Membership secretary June Evans reported that she had sent "Get Well" greetings cards to Dora Leighton, Muriel Grimshaw and vice chairman Pat Elwell.

Burgers disposed of at Biffa

UP to 100 tons of potentially contaminated burgers a week were sent to a Cannock waste plant for disposal at the height of the horseburger scare.

Cannock waste site Biffa was inundated with calls from supermarkets who cleared their shelves of burgers.

The firm says burger intake spiked at 50-100 tons a week last month. Burgers were recycled in the firm's £26 million anaerobic digester, designed for food waste. Biffa bosses said they had to disappoint many firms because the digester has to maintain a certain ratio of waste materials and could not be overloaded with any one product.

It followed revelations that some frozen beef burgers from Tesco had 29 per cent horse meat. Similar products from Iceland, Aldi, The Co-operative Group and Lidl were also found to contain horse DNA.

Extra burger deliveries lasted for about two weeks.

A CHESLYN Hay businessman is part of a unique manufacturing collaboration that is embarking on a major expansion drive that could secure £7.5 million of new work and create more than 150 jobs.

The Midlands Assembly Network – a nine-strong collective of world class manufacturing businesses – believes 2013 will be a year of expansion as new projects come online in the automotive, electronics and renewables sectors.

The group has launched the www.mangroup.co.uk website to support the concerted marketing drive and has also appointed a dedicated business development manager, Steve Gaston, who will go out and sell 'the MAN difference.'

"There's a lot of negative talk about manufacturing output slowing down and if we're not careful we'll talk ourselves into another recession," said Tony Hague, chairman and managing director of PP Electrical Systems in Cheslyn Hay.

Pipeline

"With what we've got planned, I would expect us to add £7.5m of sales in 2013 and this should lead to nearly 150 jobs – some of whom will be apprentices. It's important we create that pipeline of future engineers.

"We'll also be looking to invest over £2m to aid this expansion."

First established in 2006, the Midlands Assembly Network is made up of nine members from comapnies that offer a different engineering solution, boast 10 manufacturing facilities, employ nearly 550 skilled professionals and hold a string of industry quality accreditations.

Servicemen get teeth into dental offer

Elite Dental Clinic practice manager Simon Tracey and Ex-Servicemens' Club membership secretary John Emery

A DENTAL surgery offering discounted treatment for ex-servicemen has been launched in Cannock.

Elite Dental Practice on Walsall Road has already received a steady flow of patients since its opening.

Practice manager Simon Tracey said: "We have a few people on our books and we hope to get more in the coming months. We are very excited about the future."

The private surgery currently employs one dentist but as business grows it is hoped more staff will be taken on. Ex-servicemen at the neighbouring club have been offered 30 per cent off treatments including examinations, consultations and a scale and polish for the next 12 months and Mr Tracey said he would like to be able to help other organisations in the future.

He added: "We would like to be able to help individuals or organisations in any way we can."

Club curbs teen antics

A COUNCILLOR has credited a youth group in Hednesford with helping to curb anti-social behaviour.

The club, which was launched at the Pye Green Community Centre in October, was established to keep youngsters off the streets and out of trouble.

Problems had included gangs hanging around, reports of thefts and abuse being shouted in the streets. There were also reports of vandalism and graffiti. Hednesford councillor Linda Whitehouse said the youth club's introduction, along with the colder weather, had helped keep youths off the streets.

Symbol

"We do have a long way to go with this, but the youth group has helped. Anti-social behaviour is a symbol of their boredom."

Councillor Whitehouse, who has a property consultancy business within the town, is to launch an action group to help small start-up business, which she hopes could provide a solution.

"I have got a lot of plans in place and I hope they will go some way to helping the problem we do have with youths," she added.

"There can sometimes be a lot of groups of children hanging around and they don't have anywhere to go. This will be targeted at the older ones to give them a direction."

The youth group, provided by Staffordshire County Council, runs from 6pm to 8pm on Fridays.

Dave Parry and Peter Adams, team manager of Wolverhampton Speedway

Some of the Parrys International fleet at its Landywood Green base in Cheslyn Hay

End of the road for Parrys

FOR 40 years the coaches of Parrys International have carried holidaymakers from Staffordshire and the Black Country on tours across the European continent.

But this year will be the last that Parrys' distinctive luxury coaches, proudly bearing a British lion symbol, will operate.

Owner Dave Parry last week announced to his loyal team of 35 employees that the business was to shut at the end of this year.

The last trips that will operate will be the popular Christmas and New Year hotel breaks that have been a big money earner for the business in recent years. Destinations include Blackpool, The Isle of Wight and York with Hogmanay breaks in Scotland.

Goodbye

Mr Parry hopes it will still be a year of celebration and is planning a farewell day to give some of his loyal customers who have travelled with Parrys over decades a chance to say goodbye.

The firm still expects to carry more than 25,000 people in its final year of operation with Austria, Italy, Germany, Spain, Switzerland and Holland included in its final programme of tours.

The coach tours specialist was started in 1973 by then Wolves speedway manager Dave Parry. Wednesfield-born Mr Parry, who was also a rider for the team, had moved to Cheslyn Hay at the age of 20 and started up his business in the main street.

It grew quickly with pick up points established in Wolverhampton, Walsall, Dudley, Stafford and Lichfield. It moved to its present purpose-built base at Landywood Green, Cheslyn Hay, 14 years ago. Parrys has won a series of industry awards through the years and has built up one of the most modern and advanced coach fleets in the country with annual turnover of £5 million.

Parrys MD Dave Parry at the unveiling of one his luxury fleet

Just last year it won an award for having the safest and most luxurious coaches in the UK in the Coach of the Year Awards.

It currently has 11 luxury touring coaches in its 15-vehicle fleet and is licensed to operate up to 18. Another coach will be arriving in March to ensure the final year's tours programme is delivered.

As well as holidays in the UK, Ireland and Europe, the company also runs a popular London theatre breaks service. Visits to top flower shows, including the Chelsea Flower Show in May, are also popular. Mr Parry said its programme of tours would continue as normal this year.

Parrys, who are main sponsors of Wolverhampton Speedway, had held its annual open day at its headquarters on January 6 to launch its 2013 holidays brochure with former world speedway champion and Sky Sports presenter Sam Ermolenko, who is president of Wolverhampton Speedway, the guest of honour.

Mr Parry rode for Wolves in the 1967 and 1968 seasons before going on to ride for the Crayford and Crewe Kings. His final season on the track was in 1973 and he then returned to Wolverhampton to manage the Wolves team.

Mr Parry said: "The business has been my life, but it has got more difficult every year in recent years to run it and very hard work to make a profit.

"The people in my age group I have dealt with over the years are also coming to the end of their business life. I am 65 next month myself and that has been partly the reason for finishing."

There is still the chance of a buyer coming in, but at this stage nothing has been agreed. If no one comes forward then all the Parrys' coaches and its other assets will be sold off.

Sportsmen star at fundraising dinner

SPORTS stars Micky Quinn and Jeff Probyn were the special guest speakers at a fundraising dinner in Penkridge.

The pair were at a Sportsman's Dinner, organised by Penkridge & District Round Table, at the Mercure Hatherton Hotel alongside around 120 guests.

It was held in aid of the charity A Child of Mine, based in Stafford, which supports bereaved parents.

Quinn, now a racehorse trainer and TalkSPORT broadcaster, scored in excess of 200 goals in a career that spanned more than 500 games with the likes of Newcastle United, Portsmouth and Coventry City.

Former rugby union prop Jeff Probyn won 37 caps for England. Both spoke to guests and answered questions.

Manager

Event organiser Ian Horwell said "We always attract first rate speakers to these events –last year we had Dean Saunders."

Fellow Round Table member Kevin Long said: "Everyone seemed to be really enjoying themselves."

It is hoped around £1,000 will be raised for charity.

Halifax-born comedian Lea Roberts entertained the guests and there was a raffle and an auction.

Historic village pub to open once again

A 250-YEAR-old village pub which has closed twice in 16 months is to reopen following another rescue bid. The Swan With Two Necks in Longdon, near Rugeley, first opened as an inn in 1755 but closed for the first time in October 2011.

Villagers, backed by Camra, launched a failed campaign to save the pub. It will, however, open again next month under new ownership following a £215,000 refurbishment.

It was firstly taken over by local businessman Neil Morten but was losing £2,000 a week and closed after six months. Now the pub company has announced that The Swan With Two Necks will re-open on March 1 under new ownership following an extensive refurbishment.

Mary McMeechan, former manager of The Royal Oak at Kings Bromley, will also serve as head chef.

Club on target to use pitches

THE chairman of the region's biggest amateur football club says it is on target to raise £11,000 so its new pitches can open in time for next season.

Wyrley Juniors FC needs to raise the cash so its £1.13 million revamped base in Long Lane, Newtown, can become fully operational.

by Claire Fry

At the moment, none of the new pitches is in use.

The club, which has 700 players on its books, raised £1,000 at the end of January with a beer festival. A planned climb up Ben Nevis on May 5 is expected to raise another £6,000.

Excited

Club chairman Keith Hardy said: "It's looking really encouraging and we are really excited about the climb and how much money we are going to make.

"It's going to make it a step closer to the amount we want to raise and we are sure we can do that in time."

The clubhouse was officially opened by Sir Trevor Brooking for social events last September.

The total cost of the four new pitches – two full-size and two junior – is £165,000.

Around £115,000 has been raised and the FA's Football Foundation is contributing 80 per cent of the remainder which leaves £11,000 to find over the next seven months.

To sponsor the club, call Mr Hardy on 07836 202764.

Pensioner dies in crash

School pupils flock to pigeon project

Mitchell and Jordan Worrall in the pigeon shed

The Kingsmead Technology College pigeons come home to roost

Mitchell takes care of one of the birds. He says it is fascinating

PUPILS in Hednesford are giving an old-fashioned pastime a new lease of life as an extra-curricular activity.

Pigeon racing is proving so popular at Kingsmead Technology College, that staff hope it could lead to a revival among youngsters in the area.

The school secured £1,000 in funding from the Royal Pigeon Racing Association (RPRA) which paid for a loft to be set up at the edge of the playing fields.

Pupils from the Kings Avenue school clean the pigeons out, feed them, give them water on a daily basis and race them. Brothers Mitchell and Jordan are among the pupils involved in Kingsmead's Lofts Pigeon Project.

Mitchell, aged 13, said: "Our grandad used to keep pigeons so we've grown up with them. I like coming down here instead of sitting on my PlayStation all night. It's fascinating to see all the birds flying around together when they leave the loft. It's really exciting when we race them as well.

Jordan, 14, added: "I don't mind clearing the pigeons out. You get used to it after a while."

Educating

Cover supervisor Richard Chambers, who is leading the project, said: "It's all about getting the kids out into the open rather than sit at home in front of their PlayStations.

"It's about educating the children about how to look after the birds and also to get them into racing.

There aren't many people around here that race pigeons anymore. We hope to add it to the curriculum soon." Almost 40 pigeons live in the wooden loft at the school. There are several varieties including blue, white and checker. They are fed once a day a mixture of beans, popcorn maize, wheat and barley.

Mr Chambers said the pigeons had taken part in around 50 races so far. In one race, their entry came 57th out of 5,500 birds.

Most of the birds return to the loft at the school. However, Mr Chambers, who is the fourth generation of pigeon racers in his family, said: "Sometimes they don't come back. Quite often they are caught by hawks.

"Since we started we've only lost about 15 birds."

Racing season is between April and September, when the weather conditions are ideal for the pigeons.

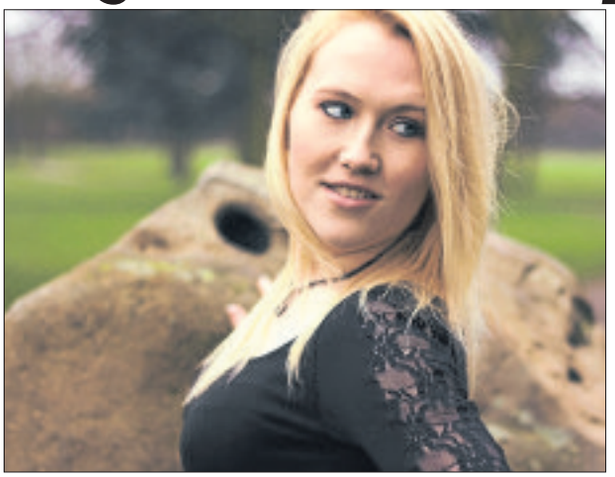
Hottest ticket in town as singer wins Grammys date



Michelle Cox, who won the chance to perform at the Grammy Awards pre-show

Katy Perry – at the awards

Alicia Keys was also there

A FORMER Cannock schoolgirl rubbed shoulders with the likes of Katy Perry, Alicia Keys – and Elton John – when she attended the Grammy Awards last weekend.

Budding singer Michelle Cox won the opportunity to perform at the star-studded pre-show in Los Angeles, singing in front of some of music's biggest names like Beyonce and Jay-Z.

Michelle flew out there with her mother Jean and will remain in the US until Saturday (February 16).

The 26-year-old hotel concierge, who works at the Hilton at Heathrow beat off stiff competition from thousands of other entrants in the singing contest to win the golden ticket.

As well as performing, the once-in-a-lifetime prize also included two tickets to the Grammys, hotel accommodation at the Beverly Hill Hilton, plane tickets and around £300 spending money.

Video

"I'm hoping it will lead to big things," said Michelle. "I've always wanted to get into acting or singing."

Michelle entered the competition last year. She submitted a video of herself singing a track from Disney's Hercules film called Go The Distance.

She was picked as the European winner and was joined at the awards ceremony by the winners from the Asia and America finals.

"I found out in November I had won," she added. "They did a conference call between all the finalists and then said my name. When they said I'd won I didn't say much. I just couldn't believe it."

Michelle, a classically trained singer, has been performing on stage since attending Cardinal Griffin Catholic High School in Cannock.

What we do

Each year, the Council makes grants to local groups and organisations operating in the area

In the last six years we have donated £40,000 to local causes. This has helped groups start and helped other purchase equipment or increase membership.

This year, grant recipients will be invited to attend the Annual Parish Meeting on 8th May at the Hayes Green Community Centre.

Pictured is the Chase Wado Kai Karate Club. The Council has donated funds to help fund their competitions and allowed them to practice at the Centre.

Best Kept Village Competition 2013

The Council enters the competition to promote community pride and to improve the area. We have entered for the last three years and have received favourable comments. We would like to have a BKV group of residents that could meet to help improve our entry be reporting faults and discussing ideas.

Volunteers would be given a briefing about previous entries and comments and could help with any aspects from reporting faults to gardening. We would welcome community participation. Please contact the Clerk for information and advice.

Green Achiever

We were the first Parish Council in the country to be awarded "Green Achiever" status. What do we do?

Hayes Green Community Centre has a high efficiency boiler, insulation, double glazed windows, timed sensor lights and thermostats on radiators.

We promote recycling and have information on our noticeboards and website.

Council Christmas cards are sent electronically at no cost to the Council. We send and receive post by email wherever possible.

The prize for our Christmas Lights competition is to pay for energy saving equipment or insulation.

We comment on traffic proposals and potholes to reduce congestion. We support "walking buses" and have produced a map to promote walking and cycling in the area. The Clerk has an electric bike (50 miles on 4p charge) to reduce Council mileage costs and reduce the carbon footprint.

Abi's in Wonderland

Visitor services assistant Abigail Morris promotes the half-term activities at the Museum of Cannock Chase

CHILDREN will be going mad as a hatter for next week's half term events at the museum of Cannock Chase.

Activities based on Lewis Carroll's famous fantasy tale, Alice in Wonderland, take place at the museum in Valley Road, Hednesford.

Children will be able to take part in outdoor fun and games including croquet with the Play Rangers tomorrow (Friday) followed by craft activities at the Mad Hatters Tea party on Sunday (17).

Councillor Christine Mitchell, Leader of Culture and Sport, said: "There are some fantastic activities taking place at the Museum of Cannock Chase this half-term."

The museum will be open from Monday to Friday during the half-term from 11am to 4pm. General admission is free but with a small entry charge of £3 for drop-in and pre-booked workshops. For more information, call 01543 877666 or visit www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk/museum

Police reveal drop in crime numbers

CRIME across Cannock has fallen by four per cent since the beginning of the financial year, police have revealed.

And, despite the Christmas and New Year festivities, crime in the town centre in December was the third lowest figure of the year – a total of 170 reported incidents.

Of those, 38 were violent crimes, including grievous bodily harm and sexual assaults, 45 were incidents of anti-social behaviour. There were also 18 burglaries, 18 criminal damage and arson reports and 15 incidents of shoplifting.

In the same month, 86 crimes took place within a mile of Rugeley town centre. Of these, 31 were anti-social behaviour offences and 16 were violent crimes.

In Hednesford in December, 98 crimes were recorded. There were 30 incidents of ant-social behaviour, 13 violent crimes, 12 vehicle crimes, 10 burglaries and 12 criminal damage and arson.

by Kirsten Rawlins

Staffordshire Police Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe said the top priorities for 2013 were reducing violent crime, alcohol-related violence and anti-social behaviour.

He said: "The latest figures show that so far this year crime has fallen by four per cent in Cannock Chase.

"The figures reflect our on-going determination that communities in Staffordshire remain safe places to live and work."

New support service could lead to boost for businesses

BUSINESSES in the Burntwood area could benefit from a new support service which is being run by Lichfield District Council.

The council is calling for experts in business development to apply to run the service that will see firms across the district supported.

The chosen organisation will give advice to companies on business growth and development, employment growth and workforce development. It will also teach them how to improve access to finance and develop general business skills.

by Charlotte Lilley

Excited

Councillor Alan White, the authority's cabinet member for development services, said: "We're excited to be launching this new service later in the year, as we know from talking to local entrepreneurs that they are facing tough times in the current economic climate and want more support at a local level.

"Developing our businesses is vital for the economic prosperity of the district.

"Offering expert, impartial advice and support is a great way to boost businesses locally."

The council is looking for a company that has a track record of working successfully with businesses to lead the service between April 1 2013 and 30 June 2014.

The deadline for applications is February 28.

Incredible

He said: "It is such an honour to be given this role. As an ambassador I want to work with the charity to help change the lives of disabled children around the country and continue to fundraise.

"Newlife helped me when I was young and now I want to help others who are less fortunate."

The ICT student was selected to carry the Olympic torch through Newtown near Great Wyrley last year.

He added: "It was absolutely incredible seeing everyone cheering and meeting some of the children I have helped."

A DANCING duo showed off their fancy footwork and came out on top in a national competition.

Sam Brotherton, aged 15, of Great Wyrley, and his dance partner, 16-year-old Nicole Brown, of Sutton Coldfield, qualified for the finals of the Britain's Best competition in Latin and ballroom dancing.

It was held at the Tower Ballroom in Birmingham, where the pair impressed judges and won the under 35s pre-amateur section for ballroom dancing and came second in the Latin section. The pair, who were presented with trophies for their victories, train three times a week with David and Helen Trueman in Essington and started dancing together a year ago.

Osmonds stars of this Boogie night

Boogie Nights, Civic Hall, Wolverhampton

ONE Direction are the hottest boyband in the world right now but will they still get the fans screaming in the year 2053?

I ask because the Osmonds appeared at Wolverhampton Civic Hall in 70s show Boogie Nights. There were only three – Jimmy, Jay and Merrill – but the mere mention of their name produced near-hysteria. The group had their first hit – One Bad Apple – in 1970 but the fans have stayed loyal. As they sang, it was to a backdrop of a video of their career. Their contribution consisted of hits like Proud One and Crazy Horses but they also asked fans to shout out tracks and then sang them.

The show also starred Gareth Gates, Shane Richie Junior, Louisa Lytton, Andy Abraham and Chico. Richie was Roddy who cheated on girlfriend Debs (Louisa Lytton) and she ended up marrying his best mate Dean (Gareth Gates). Richie was more interested in becoming a rock star and that's where the Osmonds fitted in – as they offered him the chance to open one of their concerts. This was all played out to a backdrop of the disco hits of the 70s.

Former X Factor star Andy Abraham outsang the others, especially on You're My Everything. Gareth Gates shone as he stood in for Donny to sing Puppy Love.

Quirky ballet was a gust of fresh air

Matthew Bourne's Sleeping Beauty, Birmingham Hippodrome

WITH choreographer Matthew Bourne in charge there was no way this favourite fairy tale was ever going to include a cutesy christening and a spinning wheel.

He didn't disappoint. We had a robotic baby climbing up the curtain, a travelator, vampires, hoodies and magnificent costumes and props taking us from 1890 right up to 2013.

Bourne gave us the classical spiked with humour and a gust of fresh air – not many serious ballet performances are met with gales of laughter even fewer have puppets knocking seven bells out of the cast.

We lapped up Bourne's trademark quirkiness, revelling in the straight leg lifts, the hands cupped behind necks and absence of ballet shoe ribbons and were joyfully overwhelmed with both the scenery and mastery of the whole performance.

Eeh-bard-gum tale on tour

Emma Noakes, as Perdita, and Gavin Fowler, as Florizel, in Shakespeare's The Winter's Tale, at Stratford then on tour Picture: RSC

The Winter's Tale, RSC, Stratford, then on tour

THE Winter's Tale is one of Shakespeare's least enjoyable plays, an uneasy blend of tragedy and comedy, but a strong cast invest the Royal Shakespeare Company's new version with emotional intensity.

Director Lucy Bailey has moved the play to the 19th century, with the wealthy inhabitants of Sicilia portrayed as Pre-Raphaelite romantics whilst Bohemia becomes a northern seaside resort with clog-dancing Morris men and rowdy wakes week revellers. The seaside setting is enhanced by video effects and a huge metal helter-skelter/lighthouse.

The play is a story of jealousy, as King Leontes of Sicilia sets in motion a terrible chain of events when he accuses his pregnant wife of adultery with the King of Bohemia. Jo Stone-Fewings was in turns menacing and pathetic as the manic monarch, causing the audience to gasp with shock when he punched his queen in the stomach.

Husky-voiced Tara Fitzgerald, in her first RSC role, was outstanding as the wrongly maligned queen, her eyes filling with tears of anger and grief at her rough treatment.

Strong support came from Rakie Ayola as the one lady of court prepared to stand up to the bullying king and Emma Noakes as the ale-swigging banished princess, who has grown up to speak with an eeh-bah-gum accent.

The Winter's Tale, running for three and a half hours, is a strange choice to take on tour but the performances are reason enough to catch it. It continues at Stratford until February 23 and the tour includes run at Stoke-on-Trent's Regent Theatre from April 16 to 20.

Eccentric steampunk blues

Ethan Johns, Glee Club, Birmingham

IT wouldn't be too harsh to call music producer turned singer/songwriter Ethan Johns eccentric.

The Surrey-born performer who has spent many years in America is on tour promoting his solo album If Not Now Then When? His mixture of old school protest songs and Seasick Steve-style street blues went down extremely well with his fans at the sold-out venue.

He shared the stage with what appeared to be a Heath Robinson-created upright piano which seemed to pay homage to steampunk but purpose of which was never fully realised. His performance involved an iPhone as a drummer and lo-tech reel-to-reel tape player.

Johns provided an interesting mix of styles. His ability as a musician is beyond question but his skill as a raconteur needs a lot of work.

Hear sounds of O'Donnell

THE UK's only known soundalike to Irish heartthrob Daniel O'Donnell performs in Cannock next month.

Daniel O'Connell is billed as the nearest thing to the popular crooner, who not only sells out venues wherever he plays, but also has his own visitor centre.

O'Connell has all the Irish charm of the real thing and will perform all the big hits such as Stand Beside Me and I Just Want to Dance With You, accompanied by a six-piece backing band and a surprise supporting guest. Fans can also hear Emerald Isle classics such as Danny Boy and Galway Bay.

O'Connell plays at the Prince of Wales Centre on Thursday, March 14, starting at 7.30pm.

Tickets are priced at £12.50 and available from the Church Street centre's box office on 01543 578762.

Continuing the tribute theme at the Prince of Wales, Justine Riddoch presents Totally Tina, a tribute to Grammy award-winning Tina Turner on Saturday, March 30.

Tickets are £16 for a 7.30pm show.

Legends followed by a Slade tribute

ABSOLUTE Legends take the stage at the Tackeroo in Brindley Heath tomorrow night (Friday).

On Saturday night a Slade tribute performs at the Bracken Close venue. Admission to both is £5.

Rat's the way to celebrate as Rep unveils dark fantasy

BIRMINGHAM Rep continues its centenary celebrations with the premiere of a new adaptation for the stage of Philip Pullman's dark children's fantasy I Was A Rat!

A royal role for Tennant

David Tennant – new role

DAVID Tennant is to return to the Royal Shakespeare Company to star in the lead role of Richard II.

The former Doctor Who actor won acclaim for his performance as Hamlet in 2008 and the RCS production went on to be screened by the BBC.

He will appear in the historical drama in October at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford, before transferring to the Barbican in London.

The play, brought to the stage by Italian director Teresa Ludovico, opened this week and runs at the Old Rep Theatre in Station Street until March 2, before touring the UK.

The Rep's previous adaptation of a work by the popular children's writer, Philip Pullman's His Dark Materials, was a huge success with adults and children alike in 2009.

Other theatre highlights in the region are dominated by ballet over the coming week.

David Bintley's magical version of Aladdin has its UK premiere by the Birmingham Royal Ballet at the Birmingham Hippodrome from tomorrow (Friday) until February 23. Created for the National Ballet of Japan in 2008, it promises to be a spectacular production.

Meanwhile, the Russian State Ballet and Orchestra of Siberia perform The Nutcracker at Wolverhampton Grand on Sunday, at 4pm, then Coppelia on Monday and Swan Lake twice on Tuesday.

If music be the food of love, play on

Crazy For You – married couples Lyndon Flavell and Clair Kramer and Leon and Rachael Davies prepare for West Bromwich Operatic Society's spring production, being staged at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre in April

A SHARED love of the stage blossomed into romance for two couples who are members of West Bromwich Operatic Society (WBOS).

Love is definitely in the air at the society, and not just because of Valentine's Day, as the group prepares to stage its production in April. And the name of the show, Crazy For You, could not be more appropriate.

Leading lady Claire Kramer, 33, and her partner Lyndon Flavell, 37, first met after he attended La Cage Aux Follies performed by the society in 2009. Their relationship blossomed and Mr Flavell, a firefighter at Ladywood Fire Station, joined the group in 2010. The couple, of Spring Hill Grove, Penn, got engaged over Christmas. They already have a 15-month-old daughter named Eliza.

Dance teacher Claire, who will star as Polly Baker in the next show, said: "Without the society we would never have got together."

Society members Leon and Rachel Davies met as children when they both became involved in amateur theatre. The couple, from Meadow Croft, Hagley, celebrated 14 years of their relationship earlier this month. They married in 2005 and have two children Ethan, four, and Darcy, one. Mr Davies, a lecturer at Aston University, became involved with WBOS in 1998 and his wife, who teaches singing, became a member in 2005. He is taking the lead role of Bobby Child in the latest show.

Crazy for You is being staged at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from April 23 to 27. For tickets call 01902 429212.

A gateway to harmony

A FOUR-part harmony group will brings the sounds of Lloyd Webber alive at the Prince of Wales Centre in Cannock next month.

Chase Harmony are currently in rehearsals for their next show, "The Wonderful World of Lloyd Webber", to be performed at the Church Street venue on March 22 and 23.

The 40-strong group recently renamed itself from the Gateway Singers. Musical director John Nicholls said: "We continue to go from strength to strength. In 2011 we performed to an audience of 4,000 at a major venue in Newark, supporting top of the bill The Ivy League.

"We perform our two shows at the Prince of Wales each year but we are also invited to sing at many other venues."

Ellen Nicholls takes on the producer's role for the first time for the March show. She said: "We always try to give our shows a theme so people know what to expect."

Tickets are £9, available from Jeff and Carol Allsopp on 01543 876806 or on 01543 578762.

Eddie Izzard

Funny Business
BBC2, 10.30pm
The first episode of this series was shown at the beginning of January, only for viewers to then be left hanging for a month. However, if you're still interested, this second edition, which focuses on the role of managers and agents, should be worth the wait. Eddie Izzard, David Baddiel, Rhod Gilbert and Jo Brand are among the stand-ups giving us an insight into what it takes to succeed, but anyone who thinks that previous generations of performers weren't quite so concerned about the financial aspects of showbusiness could be in for a surprise.

Professor Brian Cox

Wonders of Life
BBC2, 9pm
Many of us may take trees for granted, but there's little danger of that after the latest 59-minute lecture from Professor Brian Cox. He reveals the largest things that ever lived on Earth weren't dinosaurs or blue whales but trees. The Mountain Ash is the largest flowering plant in the world, and Brian is in awe of his 80-metre-high co-stars, some of which can live to more than 300 years, but did you know there are limits to how big each tree can get? In Australia, Brian explains how the laws of physics govern all living things, from a 100-metre-tall tree to the smallest bacterium cell.

Pick of the Week

Stars shine bright in a night of celebration

Some things have become inevitable at annual British awards bashes in recent years. Ant and Dec will pick up Best Entertainment Presenter at the National TV Awards; Corrie's Michelle Keegan takes home Sexiest Female at the British Soap Awards, and James Corden will host the Brits.

There are still a couple of months until Michelle's next award is announced, but there's no surprise to find James back on presenting duties for Brit Awards 2013.

This week he dons his best 'tailor'-made suit, and makes a 'swift' commute in 'one direction' to London's 02 arena. Chances are he'll get there 'just in' time, and if the 'muse' inspires him, will deliver a few witty one-liners to camera. And those are just a few tenuous clues to who'll be performing here.

But enough of such Alan Partridge-style segues (though they are arguably no worse than Sam Fox and Mick Fleetwood's script from the 1989 Brits debacle). What you really want to know is who's in the running for the latest star-studded gong show.

Well, like 2012's opening and closing Olympics ceremonies, this year's awards could turn into 'The Emeli Sande Show' if one of the most amiable singer/songwriters in the business scoops an armful of gongs. Aside from performing, she's up for Best British Album of the Year, British Single, and British Female Solo Artist.

However, Emeli is facing stiff competition from the brilliantly eccentric Paloma Faith in the Album and Female Artist category.

Like Ms Sande, fellow Brit performers Muse also gave a blinding performance at London 2012. Will they win over the voters in the British Live Act category, or will one of tonight's other acts, Mumford and Sons, pip them, and fellow nominees The Rolling Stones, Coldplay and The Vaccines, to the post?

That remains to be seen, but there's a good chance Paul Epworth may go home with a gong as British Producer of the Year. His work on the Skyfall theme landed an Oscar nomination, and with the only other runners in that category being Damon Albarn and Jake Gosling, the one-in-three odds aren't bad.

Adele's James Bond track is also in the running for Best British Single, along with Robbie Williams' Candy.

The Take That veteran will be belting out a tune at the O2, and if it's a well known track, will no doubt be asking the audience to fill in the blanks while he catches his breath.

X Factor winner James Arthur is also in with a chance of taking home a gong in that category thanks to his debut smash, Impossible.

Who wins what? Well there's only one way to find out as Mr Corden welcomes hundreds of celebs, record industry types, along with previously alluded to mega stars One Direction, Taylor Swift and Justin Timberlake.

With high street record shops almost permanently consigned to the 'Where Are They Now?' file, online retailers are expecting a spike in sales once the winner of the British Album of the Year Award is announced.

Alt J are hoping An Awesome Wave washes away the competition, Mumford & Sons' Babel, Plan B's Ill Manors, Ms Sande's Our Version Of Events, and Paloma's Fall To Grace.

James Corden hosts the Brit Awards 2013, Wednesday, ITV, 8pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

Her Majesty's Prison – Aylesbury

ITV, 9pm

Aylesbury Prison in Buckinghamshire houses some of Britain's most dangerous criminals, including murderers, rapists, gangsters and paedophiles. One in five are serving either life or indeterminate sentences to protect the public. But perhaps most worryingly of all, even the oldest inmates are still only 21. This eye-opening two-part documentary goes behind the scenes to discover how prison officers are trying to help the young men rebuild their lives. But it's not just rehabilitation that poses a problem – there are also outbreaks of violence and simmering gang rivalries to deal with. One jailbird claims he quite likes it when a fight breaks out as it makes the day go quicker, but unsurprisingly the staff take a very different view.

Speidi: Scandal, Secrets & Surgery!

Channel 5, 10pm

Fans of MTV's The Hills will remember the Heidi Montag of old; down-to-earth, career-driven, and a loyal friend to fellow reality telly star Lauren Conrad. But all that quickly changed and seemed to coincide with Heidi's blossoming relationship with new boyfriend Spencer Pratt. These days, 'Speidi' are something of a brand, cashing in on their 'fame' wherever they can; so much so that it's argued they're the most loathed celebrity couple in the States. This one-off film features interviews with the Big Brother runners up, and contributions from those who have surrounded them, and reveals the truth behind their marriage, the bankruptcy and all that plastic surgery (Heidi had 10 surgeries in one day).

TUESDAY

Live UEFA Champions League

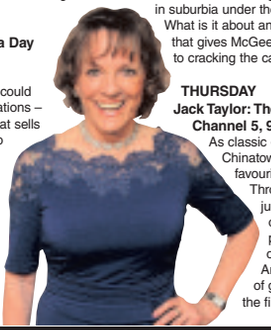
ITV, 7.30pm

Europe's premier club competition continues tonight with this last-16 first-leg match between Arsenal and Bayern Munich at the Emirates Stadium. After finishing second in Group B, Arsene Wenger's men will enter this tie as underdogs against the German giants, who topped the Group F table by virtue of their superior head-to-head record against Valencia. Having performed inconsistently away from home so far in this season's competition the Gunners will look to gain an advantage ahead of the return leg next month.

The Fried Chicken Shop: Life in a Day

Channel 4, 9pm

Are you a leg or a breast person? It's perhaps not the kind of question you could get away with in too many social situations – unless you happen to be in a shop that sells chicken-related products. According to this documentary, Brits have gone bonkers for something that was once regarded as part of the staple diet of America's southern states – fried chicken. Here we get to see what life is like both behind and in front of the counter at a fast food outlet selling the stuff in Clapham, south London. Expect to see a real cross section of British life walk through the shop doors in a one-off programme that promises to be finger-lickin' good.



Piers Morgan's Life Stories: Esther Rantzen, Friday, ITV, 9pm

WEDNESDAY

NCIS

Channel 5, 9pm

While a news crew canvass opinion on the huge amount of money about to be spent on warships, one man is so spooked by a camera being pointed in his face, he is seriously injured after running into the path of an oncoming van. The plot thickens when local cop Danny Sportelli (Jack Conley), who was called to the scene, walks into NCIS HQ to tell Gibbs (Mark Harmon) he's found a professional hitman nicknamed The Cooler. He was responsible for at least six contract killings and had been living in suburbia under the name Paul Arliss. What is it about an old Cary Grant film that gives McGee (Sean Murray) a clue to cracking the case?

THURSDAY

Jack Taylor: The Guards

Channel 5, 9pm

As classic detective drama Chinatown is one of his favourite films, Game of Thrones' Iain Glen jumped at the chance of playing an Irish private eye in the first of three mysteries. And there's no shortage of genre ingredients in the first of three mysteries for the eponymous crime-buster. A beautiful protagonist? That'll be Anne Henderson (Tara Breathnach). The case? She wants Jack to find her missing daughter. Somebody has already killed four girls, and when Taylor's paratrooper friend Sutton (Ralph Brown) washes up in Galway, too, our hero is lured to the dark side to crack the case before anyone else meets a sticky end.

FRIDAY

Room 101

BBC1, 8.30pm

Jon Richardson is a man with a meticulous attention to detail, so he was spoilt for choice when asked if he'd like to take part in this show. One of the single comedian's many bugbears is friends who are settling down, and the fact that he's 'never going to see them again unless their marriage breaks up.' Actress and fellow guest Sheila Hancock admits she's not a huge fan of 21st-century fireworks. During the last of the series, we also see what winds up Strictly Come Dancing judge Craig Revel Horwood.

Piers Morgan's Life Stories: Esther Rantzen

ITV, 9pm

These days, Esther Rantzen may not be as starry or famous as Cheryl Cole, Gordon Brown or Elton John, but she's a fascinating woman – so she should make a great guest for Piers as his chat show returns. Here she discusses her rise to fame, from lowly clerk in the BBC programming department to household name thanks to a 21-year stint as presenter of That's Life! However, her lasting legacy may turn out to be ChildLine, the first national helpline for children in danger or distress.

Olympic ceremonies memorabilia goes under the hammer at auction

Internet sales manager Charlotte Cassidy with the items

Charlotte with some of the banners and pendants

Banners used by suffragettes in the opening ceremony

A SLICE of Olympic history has gone on sale.

Props and other equipment used in the London opening and closing ceremonies have goneup for auction in Wednesbury.

More than 70 lorries of memorabilia, furniture and equipment from the London 2012 games has been stored at a 66,000sq ft warehouse in the town.

And two of three auctions were taking place this week. The sale is being staged by BFC Furniture Outlet.

Two more sales will be held next Wednesday and Thursday, at the firm's premises in Bull Lane, with about 3,000 lots up for grabs in all. The auctions will take place from 11am to 5pm on both days due to the sheer number of lots.

They were bought by the company, which is run by 59-year-old Jim Cassidy, of Bloxwich.

Nightmare

He said he struck a deal with the London Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games (LOCOG) but it had been a"logistical nightmare" to move all the items.

The lots include props used by Take That for their performance at the closing ceremony, including drums, large Alice in Wonderland-style clocks and drinking vessels.

There are also 200 safes, flags used during the suffragette section of the opening ceremony, banners sent in by children from around the world, beds used by the athletes, and furniture.

Other lots include high-visibility jackets, hard hats, floodlights, parasols and clothing with the 2012 logo.

Mr Cassidy said securing the items had been a real coup for the company.

"This is a little piece of history and I am glad people have the chance to buy it," he said.

Motoring

Compiled by Motoring Editor Sharon Walters

Dependable luxury of Range Rover

OPENING a door on the newest Range Rover, it seems laughable that the first version in 1970 had a rubber floor covering so you could hose out the dirt left by your wellies.

Turn a hose on the deep pile of today's car and onlookers might conclude you'd gone mad. And they'd be right.

The Range Rover people got their market wrong all those years ago, but they've been catching up (profitably) ever since.

What the world wanted, and never more so than today, was a vehicle that would take you almost anywhere, but not with rubber underfoot, but in the lap of luxury.

You can't blame Range Rover's designers for pampering to every demand, to the extent it's easy to spend more than £100,000 on a new model by simply adding smarter wheels.

The range now starts at £71,295 but it's going to need heroic restraint on the part of an owner not to go wild with the tick boxes at ordering time.

Never has a car been more tempting in the add-value department. Just as well, then, that the base for your spending spree is worthy of your cash.

Only modestly bigger than the car it replaces, this fourth generation Range Rover's claim to a headline is the way it has shed weight; taking a corpulently heavy car to something that's now merely very heavy (the weight of two Fiestas, for instance).

Extensive use of aluminium instead of steel is the reason the newest Rangie gives the scales an easier time. It means smaller engines can now perform as well, or better, than the previous larger ones and use less fuel.

Computer

A varied route on the way to some off-road action on the press launch saw 33mpg on the trip computer of a car with the smaller diesel doing the work. That's impressive, even allowing for some gentle miles in recognition of the light snow falling through the headlights.

The test car was a Range Rover 3.0L TDV6 Autobiography, costing £77,805 and towards the top end of the smaller-engined range. On paper it's slower than the larger diesel, but unless extended feels no slower. Quite quick enough, in fact, with a 130mpg top speed and the canter to 62mph in 7.4 seconds. There was more snow on the off-road drive, meandering through the country estate Land Rover has used for half a century to hone the go-anywhere prowess of its cars. And several days of below freezing temperatures left the ruts as slippery as a politician's reply.

No owner who cared for his car's paintwork or wheels would have pointed a Range Rover along some of the terrain chosen to show how clever the newcomer is off-road. So clever it knows precisely what setting to use for the all-wheel drive system without you touching anything.

A couple of slow hours later (and at 8mpg!) we clawed our way back on to the public road, after a quick car wash and safety check. Good to know the car will cope, even if you never ask it to.

The new car is unmistakeably a Range Rover, with big windows, a square cut stance and high driving position. It looks quietly posh outside and positively indulgent inside, where a priority was more legroom in the rear (lots of overseas buyers like to be chauffeured).

There is now enough space for a big chap to sit comfortably behind his twin up front. Choose executive class rear seating (a mere £3,860) and you'll recline in cooled or heated seats; pay another £4,000 and you can pass the journey looking for the 29 speakers of the premium sound system.

Get stuck in – the test drive model coped manfully with the snowy conditions on the off-road experience

Special MG6 ready for big accident mercy dash

A SPECIALLY equipped MG6 GT is on front line life-saving duties answering emergency calls.

MG's Sales Centre is helping FastAid volunteers in the West Midlands to respond to life-threatening incidents. FastAid is a group of highly trained Community First Responders who support West Midlands Ambulance Service by attending 999 calls in their area.

The MG6 GT has a distinctive diamond grade livery so that it can be clearly seen, even at night, travelling to the scene of an accident.

Inside the car is fitted with an ambulance service radio and carries a vital automated external defibrillator which is critical to saving patients who have suffered a cardiac arrest.

Bulky equipment needed by the Community First Responders is carried in the huge boot of the MG6 GT fastback. Richard Jay, vice chairman of FastAid, said: "The cargo space in the MG6 is enormous and allows us to carry all of our specialist equipment with ease."

Ashley Almquest, a FastAid volunteer, highlighted another standard feature of the MG6 GT SE which had proved extremely valuable to answering emergency calls – the built-in satellite navigation system.

Charity

He said: "The screen is so clear, the maps are really good and it's easy to use.

"It can save us vital minutes when we are responding to an urgent call when someone's life could depend on us getting to the scene quickly."

The FastAid MG6 will mainly operate in the greater Birmingham and Solihull areas of the West Midlands where the charity was set up eight years ago. It costs up to £2,000 to train and equip each FastAid responder. Andy Jeynes, the West Midlands Ambulance Service Community Response Manager, said: "We are extremely grateful to the MG Sales Centre for supplying the MG6. It's already proved its worth on several call outs when the speed of response, and being able to arrive on scene with the right kit, is crucial.

"Without the support of local companies and organisations, such as the MG Sales Centre, we wouldn't be able to keep doing what we do in our local communities."

Simon Bennett, a sales executive at the MG Sales Centre in Lowhill Lane, Longbridge, said: "We're very proud that our local community first responders are saving lives in one of our cars.

It's about giving something back to the community we live in and we hope that our support helps FastAid to continue the excellent work it does."

How you cope with tunnel vision driving

When entering a tunnel turn on dipped headlights not full beam

TUNNELS can present serious problems for drivers. For example, vehicle fires in Europe's Mont Blanc and Gotthard tunnels have claimed 50 lives between them.

Many died because they wrongly believed they should wait in their vehicles for help, rather than getting out of the tunnel as soon as possible.

Road safety charity the IAM is offering weekly motoring tips for driving through tunnels from Britain's top advanced driver, Peter Rodger.

Regardless of the length of the tunnel, an accident in one will present unique problems and knowing what to do is essential.

Before entering a tunnel:

- Check your fuel gauge in plenty of time, don't risk running out in a tunnel.
- Turn on the traffic information station. Some larger European road tunnels have their own radio as well as electronic signs.
- Take off your sunglasses as they will hinder your eyesight in the dim light of a tunnel.

In the tunnel:

- Turn on dipped headlights. Do not use full beam as this will dazzle other motorists.
- Don't exceed the speed limit.
- Leave plenty of room between yourself and the car in front and watch out for brake lights.
- Keep an eye out for the location of emergency pedestrian exits just in case you may need one.
- In two-way tunnels, keep well to the nearside kerb.
- Do not change lanes unless instructed to.

If you break down:

- Switch on your hazard lights immediately.
- Try to coast to a breakdown lay-by. If none are available, stop as close to the nearside kerb as possible.
- Turn off the engine but leave the key in the ignition so the vehicle can be moved.
- Evacuate the vehicle, making sure everyone is in a safe place – well away from the car and on the pedestrian walkway if there is one.
- Put on a reflective jacket if you have one, and walk carefully to the nearest emergency phone to inform the operator.

In the event of a fire:

- Only try and extinguish the fire is if someone is in danger.
- In all other cases leave as quickly as you can – do not wait to be told what to do.

Rodger said: "Though you may see a tunnel as just another stretch of road, there are specific precautions that you must be aware of and implement when using one.

"Remember, if there is a fire or an accident, don't wait to act – fire and smoke can be fatal.

"Leave the vehicle and walk to a safe place.

Save your life and not your car."

City Safety – the anti-collision system operates at speeds of up to 31 mph

Danger, pedestrians ahead – Volvo continues its Vision 2020 mission

Safety in the cab – Volvo Car Corporation still leads airbag development

Motorists put safety on roads as priority

THIRTY years after the introduction of the mandatory seatbelt law, and over 50 years since Volvo first developed the three-point seatbelt, the Swedish carmaker continues to lead the way with innovative safety technology working towards its Vision 2020 that nobody will be killed or seriously injured in or by a new Volvo by 2020.

To celebrate the 30th anniversary the mandatory use of seatbelts for drivers and front seat passengers, Volvo Car UK commissioned a survey into the British public's views on vehicle safety.

The report revealed that despite major steps in road safety technology, most – 60 per cent – do not believe safety innovations can wipe out road traffic accidents in the near future.

The law came into force on January 31 1983 and it has been estimated this legislation has saved over 60,000 lives over that period.

The poll of 1,184 drivers also found:

- Many would welcome a range of safety innovations on vehicles with over a quarter saying they would like a car that drives itself.
- More than half would be happy to be driven by autopilot.
- 45 per cent would like to see pedestrian protection technology on all cars.
- Over half want all round cameras fitted to vehicles.
- Interestingly, only a third of drivers believe speed limits on motorways should be increased because of these improved safety features.

Manufacturer

Volvo continues its market-leading approach to passive and active safety technology being the first manufacturer to introduce its auto-braking City Safety system as standard across all cars in the all-new V40 range.

City Safety, a low-speed collision avoidance system operates at speeds of up to 31 mph on the V40, keeps an eye on traffic in front and automatically brakes if the driver fails to react in time when the vehicle in front slows down or stops – or if the car is approaching a stationary vehicle too fast.

Detection

Features such as pedestrian detection where cars automatically brake when sensing pedestrians ahead, the world's first pedestrian airbag and even autopilot convoy driving where cars link together to drive themselves in special motorway 'road trains' are already being used or tested by Volvo and the manufacturer hopes to start rolling out this technology in the next few years.

Volvo Car UK's Managing Director Nick Connor said: "Volvo has a fantastic safety heritage at the forefront of innovative technology having clocked up several world firsts including the debut of the pedestrian airbag on the all-new V40 launched last year.

"As a nation of sceptics, it is perhaps not surprising the majority of British motorists think the introduction of vehicles which make accidents virtually a thing of the past is not possible but I have every faith in Volvo to prove them wrong!"

Volvo first introduced the two point cross-chest belt as an accessory in 1956 followed by the 3-point belt in the front as standard equipment in 1959.

Three decades of research and development means predictions of auto-piloted, self-driving, crash-proof cars on our roads by 2020 may not be all that farfetched despite the doubts of the majority of motorists surveyed.

Volvo invests heavily in safety research with its unique safety centre in Gothenburg carrying out hundreds of simulated crash scenarios each year and a dedicated safety team that visit the site of any road incident involving a Volvo within 50km to collect real world data.

3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Molly hits a hat-trick to net cup success

Hednesford United U13 Girls 5
Port Vale Ladies 3

MOLLY BRUTON was the star of the show as Hednesford booked a place in the semi-finals of the Staffs County League Cup.

Hednesford were made to work for their passage into the last four against a resilient Vale side in testing conditions.

The game started with Hednesford dominating possession, but the Vale keeper was in superb form and made several fine saves to deny the hosts.

But Hednesford finally made the breakthrough when Kate Clinton prodded home from close range to give them a half-time lead.

Vale really upped their game after the break and hit back to level the scores.

Hednesford responded and a fine header from Samantha Fawdon made it 2-1.

But Vale refused to lie down and within minutes they levelled again.

Hednesford then nosed in front for the third time when Bruton opened her account with a sweetly-struck free-kick that curled into the top corner.

Yet again, Vale hit back and struck with just two minutes remaining to take the tie into extra-time.

But it was Bruton who took centre stage as she calmly netted from the penalty spot following a handball to put Hednesford 4-3 up.

Bruton then saved the best to last when she set off on a solo run, rounded a couple of defenders and then fired home to complete her treble and seal a 5-3 success.

Hednesford will now face Shamblers, who knocked out Lichfield Diamonds, in the semi-finals.

Hednesford Under-13s are looking for another player to add to their existing squad. Anyone interested should call 07919 105630 for more details.

Hednesford United U15s 1
Wyrley Panthers U15s 0

Hednesford edged into the next round of the cup courtesy of a hard-fought victory.

After a goalless first half, the deadlock was finally broken when Hednesford's Ellie Bilson netted what proved to be the winning goal.

Hednesford's player of the match award went to Hannah Deakin while Georgia Clarke earned the opposition manager's award.

Adams demands a cure for travel sickness

by Rich Jones

WOLVERHAMPTON speedway boss Peter Adams says his side must improve their away form if they are to push for the Elite League play-offs this season.

The Monmore club incredibly remain without a win in the league on the road since July 8, 2010 when they triumphed 46-44 at Ipswich – and Adams knows that unwanted record needs to end.

He said: "It's vital that we pick up our away form this season. Obviously we had that great run at home in 2009 and 2010 where we only lost once, but that record has been undone the last couple of years to some degree.

"We lost a few at home and, because we couldn't win at all away, we ended up near the bottom of the table.

"So we need to return to our impregnable form at Monmore, but if you are going to be anywhere near the play-offs you need to be successful on the road. You are going to need two or three away wins at least to be knocking on the door.

"I can't put my finger on why we have been so unsuccessful on our travels over the last two seasons because we had completely different teams. In 2010 we were very top-heavy whereas the team in 2011 wasn't, so I don't know why we couldn't get many points away from home.

"But I do know we are hell-bent on getting into the play-offs this year, and that's going to have to mean winning away a few times."

Adams believes in Sam Masters and Jacob Thorssell, Wolves have a strong reserve pairing – in contrast to 2012 when Lukasz Sowka struggled before his eventual release.

Despite joining on modest averages of 3.95 and 3.00 respectively, Adams feels there is scope for improvement in both Masters and Thorssell – something he hopes will make a real difference.

He said: "You hear a lot of managers talking about the need for strong reserves, and I am very aware of that. In Sam Masters, in particular, I think we've got a potential ace in the hole there.

"It was only 18 months ago he was Premier League Riders' Champion and last time he was at Monmore with Poole we recall a very solid performance – 10 points, I think it was.

"Jacob came over a few weeks ago and I spent some time with him. He's bringing his own equipment this season and he's very well set up. We're looking for some improvement from him. He is a quality kid."

Saunders keen to add to his Molineux pack

WOLVES boss Dean Saunders is hunting for more signings after landing Reading defender Kaspars Gorkss.

The Molineux men have snapped up the 6ft 3ins Latvia national captain on loan to the end of the season with a view to becoming a permanent signing in the summer.

Now Saunders wants to push through two more signings of extensive Championship experience – believed to be a left-back and another striker – before the loan window shuts on March 28.

by Tim Nash

Saunders said: "This is a start for me of what I'm trying to build here.

"I'm hoping we can get a couple more players in.

"I've got a list of players who we should sign to enable us to go up, but right now, we probably need a couple more to help us stay up.

"We might have to wait until the summer to get them, especially the ones who are out of contract.

Demotivated

"But I might have to do something for now, although ideally I want to sign players who are also ready for next season.

"All the players I named to the chairman are lads who have done well in this league and we've got to get players who aren't demotivated coming out of the Premier League thinking they're too good to be in the Championship.

"Sometimes you've got to get players who know they're good in this league, can do the basics and enjoy training not thinking they're better than they are."

Saunders was delighted to have secured the services of Gorkss.

"He's a good age for a central defender and I think he can help take us where we want to go," said the Wolves boss. "He's strong, brave and no-nonsense and will put his head in which is what we need.

"He also has a good character and is a winner."

An undisclosed fee has been agreed with Reading for the 31-year-old left-sided former Blackpool and QPR stopper, who had 17 months left on his Royals contract.

Wolves had to fight off a late bid from Championship rivals Blackburn to land Gorkss.

Rovers boss Michael Appleton was keen to sign the defender as cover for regular centre-backs Scott Dann and Grant Hanley, with the lure of regular football at Molineux swinging the deal Wolves' way.

Gorkss arrives with an impressive pedigree at this level after winning Championship title winners' medals in the last two seasons with QPR then Reading, playing 41 and 42 League games respectively in each of both clubs' successful promotions.

Welcome to Molineux – new signing Kaspars Gorkss gets kitted out after arriving from Reading. The 31-year-old central defender has signed until the end of the season with view to a permanent deal in the summer.

The Latvian is an uncompromising, ball-winning centre-back and his arrival will crank up the competition in the heart of Wolves' defence.

Christophe Berra, who is out of contract at the end of the season and is set to leave, appears to the man under most under pressure to keep his place.

Gorkss, who boasts around 50 caps, is also vocal and is seen as a genuine on-field leader.

This term Gorkss has made 13 full Premier League appearances, plus three more in the Capital One Cup, but none since December 17.

Gorkss moved to England with Blackpool in January 2007 from Ventspils, where he won the Latvian league, after spells in his home country with FC Auda then three years in Sweden with Osters and Assyriska Foreningen.

He was also a promotion winner via the League One play-offs with the Tangerines in 2006-07, playing 50 League games for Blackpool before a £250,000 switch in 2008 to QPR, where he made 114 league appearances in three years before adding a further 55 at Reading.

Wrestling back with plenty of shouting

PRO wrestling is back in Walsall on Friday – by popular demand!

Not since the golden television era of stars such as Wolverhampton legend Kendo Nagasaki, Big Daddy and Giant Haystacks, has wrestling enjoyed such popularity, and it seems the Black Country is at the heart of this resurgence.

Matt 'Mad Dog Maxx' Powell, of Walsall, said: "I wrestle all over the UK and crowds are great, but in the Black Country they are just that little bit louder, that little bit more enthusiastic. It really is fast becoming the hotbed of pro wrestling here."

The 28-year-old will be wrestling at the Saddlers Club, Banks's Stadium.

"Being from Walsall it always makes me proud to wrestle at home, but now it's extra special with wrestling gaining that extra kick of popularity," he said.

Doors open at 7pm with the show starting at 7.30pm. Tickets are £5 or £17.50 for a family of four. Call 07938 000 598 for details

Dragons too hot to handle

Burntwood Dragons U10s 7
Rugeley Rangers U10s 1

A BRIGHT start by Dragons saw their passing game at its best as they raced into a half-time lead with goals from Alex Tisdell, Jack Castro and Jack Taylor.

The second half continued much the same as Dragons created chances and added to their tally with Taylor, Tisdell and Castro all getting their second goals of the day. Sam Churchley completed the scoring to cap a fine team display.

Boley Park U9 0
ChurchFarm U9 2

Another solid display from Church Farm earned them another victory and saw them climb up to second in the Division C table.

A lot of rain and a heavy pitch made it tricky for both sides but it was Farm who coped best.

An unfortunate Boley own goal helped Farm on their way with Jamie Rock adding a second after being set-up by Harry Buzzard.

Sam Johnson was named man of the match for Farm.

Martin is star with a hat-trick

Old Halesonians 3
Cannock Mixed 7

SARAH MARTIN took the individual plaudits as Cannock's mixed hockey side started its EH Cup campaign with a resounding victory over Old Halesonians.

The home team struck first with a goal from ex-Cannock man Chris Hill.

But Cannock were soon level courtesy of a strike from Lewis Jecketts.

Cannock's second came from a cross by Chris Darnley that found Martin in front of goal and she slotted away the first of her three goals.

Ashley Moncarda pounced on a cross from Jecketts for Cannock's third before Old Halesonians pegged one back.

But Martin was again on hand to strike home a Cannock penalty corner minutes before half-time.

Cannock started the second half brightly and Chris Darnley found the back of the net.

Old Hales cut the lead again but that only spurred Cannock into further action with Martin completing her hat-trick and Darnley picking up a brace.

Rugby Union

Burntwood bag a point

Yardley and District 9
Burntwood 9

A LAST-GASP penalty earned Burntwood a draw from their trip to Yardley. In a game where both defences were on top, each side landed three kicks at goal.

From the kick-off both sides found it difficult to control the ball on a narrow and muddy pitch.

Burntwood took an early lead when winger Dune't landed a 45-metre penalty.

After some sustained pressure the hosts replied with a long-range penalty.

Although the Burntwood forwards held the upper hand in the scrums, all ball won was snubbed out by the opposition's back row.

A minute before half-time Burntwood forwards failed to stay on their feet at a ruck and the hosts landed the resulting penalty to lead 6-3.

In a frantic last 10 minutes, Dune't converted a penalty to level the scores before Yardley hit back with another three points. But Dune't struck again with the last kick of the game to tie the scores

It's Sunday best for seconds and thirds

Cannock 2nds 4 Lichfield 2nds 1

ON a cold wet afternoon Cannock put on their Sunday best to claim the spoils in the first of their re-arranged snowed-off fixtures.

The opening exchanges were fairly even with chances at both ends.

Keeper Paul Parker was called into action twice, making two fine saves, but it was Cannock who broke the deadlock.

An end-to-end move led to Stuart Gooderham finding Chris Darnley in front of goal and he slotted home.

The second half saw Cannock up the tempo and add three further goals. A reverse 'wonder strike' from Matt Plunkett made it 2-0 before captain Steve Mallows added a third. Jack Myatt rounded off the scoring for Cannock.

In the dying moments of the game, Lichfield got a goal back through a strong drive off a penalty corner.

Cannock 3rds 6 Edgbaston 3rds 0

Cannock turned on the stye as they hit Edgbaston for six of the best on Sunday.

The early exchanges were tight as both sides approached the fixture in positive fashion.

Hockey

However, as the young Cannock side grew into the game the flow of the contest changed and it wasn't long before they took the lead.

The lively Morris took a quick free-hit and the impressive Dhanda's ball was deflected to the back post by Bloomer, where debutant Bunn was in the right place to apply the finishing touch.

Cannock doubled their lead shortly before half-time when another free-hit from just outside of the D was fed to Parker, who nutmegged the goalkeeper with a 'drag-push' effort.

A spirited Edgbaston side attempted to rally after the half-time break but it wasn't long until a break from Cannock was converted by Dhanda to make it 3-0.

Martin then rounded off a good team passing move to add goal number four.

Better was to come in terms of goals from Cannock as the ball rolled to Martin at the back post and, showing a touch of class, he outdid the opposition goalkeeper to score.

The best goal of all was the final effort. Parker won the ball on his own baseline before squeezing-down the line and hitting a long ball forward. After a touch from Martin, a bouncing ball fell to Dhanda and he rifled an effort into the top corner.

A mention must be made to Cannock's rearguard who are yet to concede a league goal in 2013.

Led by the excellent vice-captain Spencer they bravely held their record intact with a mixture of controlled and last-ditch defending. Where they were found wanting, young Keeper Ollie Balcombe came to the rescue.

Pressure pays off as 4ths march on

West Bridgford 5ths 2
Cannock 4ths 3

CANNOCK emerged triumphant from a tough game at West Bridgford.

Bridgford's fourth team sat two points behind Cannock at the top of the league and their fifths were keen to aid their compatriots.

Cannock pressed the opposition from the outset and surged into a two-goal lead.

Both goals came from penalty corners with George Southall and Jeevan Dhanda finding the back of the net.

West Bridgford were restricted to few chances but cashed in on a penalty corner to reduce the deficit.

Despite Cannock being reduced to 10 men as a result of an off-field difference of opinion between Dave Bradbury and the umpire, they dug deep and continued to create chances.

In the second half, Cannock resumed their passing game which allowed Dave Wigg to pounce on a deflected ball in the D to drive home a third goal.

A moment of indecision at the back allowed West Bridgford to cut the lead again and set up a tense finish.

The hosts were awarded a late penalty corner but some solid defence ended the threat as Cannock moved six points clear at the top of the table.

Defeat cranks up the heat in play-off race

Cannock 1sts 1 Reading 2

CANNOCK will be looking to get their bid for the European play-off places back on track this weekend when they host third-placed Loughborough University.

A 2-1 reverse to Reading has left Cannock looking over their shoulder. They still occupy the fourth play-off spot in the England Hockey League Premer Division but only have a point advantage over both Reading and Surbiton.

Reading scored after four minutes through Tom Carson and he struck again on 23 minutes to put Cannock further behind.

The second half saw Cannock battle through the driving rain to dominate possession.

But despite eight penalty corners, hitting the bar twice and the Reading keeper edging the ball away time after time, it was only a penalty corner strike by Daniel Coultas that reduced the deficit.

Cannock will need to convert chances into goals if they are to achieve one of the European play-off places.

Cannock 2nds 3
Loughborough Uni 2nds 2

Cannock's Midlands League side had to dig deep to maintain their unbeaten record.

A well-drilled Loughborough outfit started brightly and surged into an early two-goal lead.

Cannock started to recover and ask questions of the Loughborough defence and their pressure was rewarded as goals from Sandhar, Myatt and Jecketts earned a 3-2 success.

Hockey

Cannock 3rds 8
Olton & West Warwick 3rds 0

Cannock returned to action at Chase Park against visiting opposition desperate for points in their relegation battle.

The difference between the two sides was visible throughout as Cannock dominated possession, but it was 15 minutes before they broke the deadlock.

Bloomer opened the scoring with a clinical finish after the industrious Morris created an opening.

The lead was extended after Jecketts drove forward before finding Darnley, who dispatched a rising ball into the back of the net.

Round added the third goal – the first of what would turn out to be his first third-team hat-trick.

The second half brought five further goals for Cannock as they improved their already impressive goal difference, Round striking twice to complete his treble with Wilkes and Darnley also among the scorers.

In-form Lichfield target national success

LICHFIELD UNDER-14 hockey side have powered their way into the Midlands regional finals.

The youngsters swept all aside them to progress as they beat Streetly 7-0, Leicester 4-1, Peterborough 5-0 and Sutton 4-0. This will be the third year Lichfield have reached the regional rounds but never as the top of the league. The boys now aim to go one better than last year and progress to national level.

Young guns ease through

CANNOCK Under-16s progressed to the regional finals despite not even stepping on the pitch this weekend.

Two 5-0 walkover victories against Telford and West Brom saw Cannock finish top of their Midlands group with six wins out of six and they now look forward to trying to qualify for the national finals on Sunday, March 3.

Scoring 35 goals without reply will give Cannock plenty of confidence as they wait to find out their opposition for the next stage of the competition.

Cannock Under-14s Boys also have cause for celebration.

They won 10-0 against Worcester and 2-0 against Rugby & East Warwickshire to secure their place in the regional finals on April 13 by finishing top of the Midlands League One table.

Mansell does the business

GREAT Wyrley ABC boxer Jamie Mansell got his 2013 off to a flyer as he punched out a unanimous decision over Ryan Whelan.

The 15-year-old started the bout behind his long jab as the shorter, more experienced Whelan, of Nechells Green ABC, sought to get inside Mansell's long reach to work the body.

The second round saw a change of tactics from the Wyrley boxer as he took the centre of the ring and pushed the rapidly-tiring Birmingham boxer onto the back foot and his back hand started to rock Whelan's head back.

It was all Mansell in the last round as he dominated to a point where the referee could have possibly stopped the contest, but the brave Whelan gritted his teeth and saw it through to the final bell.

Wyrley coach Peter Hickenbottom said: "Jamie has come on leaps and bounds over the last six months, in his fitness and his attitude.

"If he has a fault then it's the lack of a real concussive punch but that will come the more he boxes.

"If he keeps going he could have a bright future."

Twins at the double for open victory

KICKBOXERS from Cannock enjoyed a fruitful day at an Open competition.

Five members of Huntington Kickboxing Club took part in the tournament in Burton, which was well-supported with clubs across the West Midlands participating.

First up for HKB was Joshua Coleman fighting Kyle Russan from Eclipse. Each fighter gave it their all with both taking a clear round and the judges deemed the fight a draw.

Riding high on the back of three consecutive wins in his previous fights, Callum Jones was greatly confident and he claimed another victory against Junald Khan from the renowned USKA fight academy.

The next two bouts were near identical, but, then again, the fighters, the Evans twins, are near identical themselves. Both are the rising stars for the club in the under-15 category.

Zack fought off Ashley King from MIK and Owen beat Amaan Abdul Rehman from the formidable USKA club to score unanimous victories.

Hart buck last eight spot after cup shock

WHITE HART RANGERS upset the odds as they claimed a notable scalp in the Cannock Chase Cup.

The Division Five side caused the shock of third-round day when they sent Division One high-flyers The Littleton crashing out.

Goals from Jake West and Lewis Spalding earned Hart their first quarter-final place, where they will face Harrisons or St Matthews, after ending The Littleton's run of six successive wins.

Harrisons are eyeing silverware after battling back from a goal down against Hawkins Sports to earn a place in the Ron Terry Cup semi-finals. Trailing 1-0, Dean Williams equalised and Matty Brotherton notched the winner.

Cannock Chase League

The Division One Cup Group A tie between FC Premier Suite and Short Heath Poets was abandoned after 75 minutes at 1-1 due to a waterlogged pitch.

Keegan Mullen was in fine form, notching a hat-trick, as Division Two leaders Cannock Academy sunk Mary Rose 7-0.

Chris Caddick (2) and Dan Lomas and Ash Nolan also scored as Academy went five points clear at the top of the table.

Andy Webb (2), Adam Edwards, Mitch Vaughan and Matty Bird all found the net as Cheslyn Hay Athletic beat Lea Hall 5-2.

Victoria Athletic's 3-1 win over Hawkins Inex lifted them a place in their bid to escape relegation.

Division Three strugglers Crystal Fountain rocked deposed leaders TNT 3-0.

Chris Picken, Nathan Jones and Olly Winter secured Fountain's second victory of the season.

Trafalgar took advantage by going top with a 4-3 win over Cannock and Rugeley. Luke Thomas, Dane Bogolowski and Ben Burdett (2) netted. Royal Exchange leapfrogged Rugeley Rangers, beating them 2-1 thanks to goals from Mark Wilcox and Dave Potts.

Hot-shot Scott Holland bagged six of the best as Hazel Slade beat AFC Fern 8-0 in Division Four. Gary Longdon joined Holland on the scoresheet, adding two.

AFC Essington climbed off the bottom after beating Hope and Anchor 4-1. Richard Harris, Sean Carroll and Jack Bloomer (2) were on target.

The Castle came from 2-0 down to beat Brinsford 5-3. Nick Harvey (2), Curtis Bond, Daz Brooks and Josh Aspley did the trick.

PITMEN'S PROGRESS CHECKED AT ASHTON

Ashton United 2 Hednesford Town 2

HEDNESFORD dropped two valuable points in the race for glory in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division.

The Pitmen's bid for a fifth successive victory was checked by a spirited Ashton United outfit and with leaders North Ferriby winning comfortably at Witton Albion, Rob Smith's men are now six points behind the pacesetters with two games in hand.

Boss Smith will no doubt feel frustrated at losing some ground in the title race, but on another day things could have been very different with the Pitmen having a vociferous penalty shout turned down and a goal disallowed at the death.

The first half was a relatively even affair with both sides struggling to adapt to the greasy surface.

The closest either side came was a header from Hednesford's Ben Bailey that flew over the crossbar.

The second half proved a more lively affair and Hednesford struck first on 48 minutes.

Michael Lennon was the man on target, side-footing home a low shot beyond Paul Phillips.

Hednesford looked to be taking charge of the game with Dave MacPherson volleying straight at Phillips shortly afterwards.

But, in the space of two minutes just after the hour mark, the game was turned on its head as Ashton levelled and then took the lead.

A cross from Scott Hogan found Matty Barlow free at the back post to tap the ball into the net for the equaliser.

The hosts were in front within 90 seconds. Pitmen keeper Dan Crane came out of his goal but found himself high and dry after Hogan dispossessed him and finished superbly from a tight angle.

Hednesford Town

The two-goal salvo stunned the Pitmen, but they fought back admirably and proved why they still harbour real hopes of winning the title come April.

They were back on level terms within 10 minutes courtesy of Elliott Durrell, who drilled the ball home for his 19th league goal of the season.

The game was delicately poised going into the final 15 minutes and Hednesford had strong claims for a penalty turned down when Jamey Osborne glided into the area and looked to have been felled only for the referee to award a goal-kick and book the midfielder for diving.

The home side also looked for a winner and went close when substitute Dennis Sherriff scuffed his shot onto the inside of the post with seven minutes to go.

The visitors thought they had nicked the points in the closing stages when Neil Harvey scrambled the ball into the net but a linesman's flag ruled out the effort.
